SAARBRUECKEN HIT BY STRONG BOMBER FORCE

RAF Makes Seventh Heavy Raid on German Cities In Ten Nights.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 30—A strong force of British bombers, striking at Germany for the seventh time in 10 nights, did great damage in a concentrated attack last night on Saarbruecken, German steel manufacturing center near the French border, the air ministry announced today.

Nine planes were lost in the assault—the first on Saarbruecken since Nov. 8, 1940—the announcement said. Saarbruecken is a key railway junction as well as an industrial city.

Nazi air raiders, meanwhile, attacked widely separated areas in Britain, dropping a few bombs in the greater London area for the first time since June 3 and stabbing at several points in the Midlands and East Anglia.

Birmingham Hit

One of the Nazi targets in the Midlands was the industrial center of Birmingham where, the ministers of air and home security said, the raiders did some damage and caused some casualties.

Seven of the German planes were shot down, a communique said.

The RAF raids on western Germany were accompanied by a heavy aerial bombardment of the occupied French coast between Boulogne and Calais.

Observers on the English southeast coast said that relays of big British bombers sped over the channel in a steady procession throughout the moonlit night, and the thunder of bomb blasts on the French shore reverberated across Dover strait.

Saarbruecken, a city with a peacetime population of about 135,000, lies in the heart of the great Saar valley coal fields, and is one of the chief centers of iron and steel production in Germany.

Other Nazi Towns Hit

The Berlin radio said that several other towns in western Germany also were bombed by the British raiders.

It was the second successive night attack on Germany. Hamburg and its big submarine-building yards having been the target the preceding night of a mass attack in which perhaps 600 planes participated.

Hamburg also was attacked Sunday night. Duisburg—important manufacturing center at the junction of the Rhine and Ruhr rivers—had been raided on four of the previous six nights.

Mt. Vernon Placed In Defense Rental Area

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 30—Mount Vernon, O., including Knox county, was designated a defense rental area today by Price Administrator Leon Henderson, who gave landlords 60 days in which to cut their rents to levels of last March 1.

Officials emphasized that rents in the community were not automatically reduced nor brought under federal control by the designation. Local authorities are given the opportunity to meet Henderson's recommendations in any way they choose. However, if at the expiration of the 60-day grace period investigation shows the rent ceilings have not been imposed, Henderson is authorized to appoint a federal rent director for each area and force compliance.

ACCIDENT CASE HEARING BEGUN

Bucyrus Man Accused of Fleeing After Car Hit Girl and 2 Children.

A charge of intoxication against Charles Smith, 26, of Bucyrus, passenger in a car which struck two small children and a 16-year-old girl July 10 on North Main street, was dismissed this morning by Municipal Judge Dexter Hazen as hearings on the case began.

Hearing on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident, filed against Robert Neeley, 24, of Bucyrus, driver of the car, started at 1 p. m. Both men are colored.

Immediately following dismissal of the charge against Smith he was subpoenaed in the courtroom as a witness for the prosecution in this afternoon's hearing.

All but one of the accident victims have been released from City hospital.

Thomas Schroats, 3, who suffered fractures of the right leg and thigh and bad cuts on the left side of his face, still is in the hospital. His condition was reported to be good at noon today.

2 Out of Hospital

His sister, Marsha Lee, was released from the hospital Sunday and the girl who was taking care of them when the accident occurred, Mary Elizabeth Bowman, 16, was released on July 21.

The boy and girl are children of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Schroats of 970 North Main street and Miss Bowman is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Ruth Bowman of 1015 North Main street.

At the time of the accident the three were crossing North Main street from the Wilson grocery to the Bowman home.

Judge Hazen said he dismissed the charge against Smith because the affidavit filed against him and signed by Police Chief William E. Marks, charged violation of a city ordinance, whereas evidence given in the hearing was that Smith was arrested outside the city limits by state highway patrolmen. The warrant for Smith's arrest was signed by the chief and not the state patrolmen.

State Patrolmen James Gibbs and Vern Herbert and Desk Sergeant Clyde Harden of the police department were witnesses this morning.

Patrolmen Testify

Both patrolmen testified that Smith was intoxicated when he was arrested and Desk Sergeant Hardin said when he slated Smith at the police station there was a definite odor of alcohol on his breath and that Smith staggered when he walked. Hardin said he would state definitely that Smith was intoxicated.

Patrolman Herbert said he discussed the accident with Smith and that Smith said he and Neeley, employed in Marion, had been paid at 9 a. m. on the day of the accident and spent the day in Marion. When they left Marion to return to Bucyrus Smith said he wanted to drive the car but Neeley said "no", according to the patrolman.

E. J. Myers, Bucyrus attorney, who, with J. D. Williamson of Marion, is representing the Bucyrus men, questioned whether Smith was found within the city limits or outside the corporation. Considerable discussion of this point brought out that the arrest was made outside the corporation but that the papers issued were signed by the police chief.

Judge Questions Witness

Judge Hazen interposed to ask the patrolman whether he had seen Smith within the city limits and the patrolman said "No."

The judge said he was inclined to agree with Mr. Myers that a man could not be arrested outside the city limits and charged under a city ordinance.

Robert A. Kelly, assistant to Acting City Solicitor R. M. Wilhelm, conducted the questioning for the city this morning. Wil-

HITLER'S ARMY ROLLS DEEPER INTO CAUCASUS

Russians Report Germans Fail To Gain in North Around Stalingrad.

By The Associated Press

Adolf Hitler's invasion armies, racing toward the Caspian sea, reported today they had cut the last major rail line of the Caucasus oil fields, while in the north the Russians declared they had beaten off all German attempts to hammer wedges into Soviet lines above Stalingrad.

A Vichy (French) radio broadcast heard in London reported that German troops from the Crimea had crossed the narrow Kerch strait and landed at dawn today on the Taman peninsula of the Caucasus.

Such a movement would seriously endanger Russian forces stubbornly fighting to hold the German drive south into the Caucasus from Rostov.

Late dispatches indicated that the Germans had found a "soft spot" in the Russian defenses east of Rostov and were exerting their main efforts in a drive to isolate the Caucasus.

The situation appeared to be growing rapidly more acute in the northern Caucasus, where the Russians acknowledged fresh Nazi advances at several points.

Says Line Cut

The German high command asserted broadly that the Russian line of retreat to the east had been cut off in the great Don river bend, but gave no details.

Dispatches to Red Star said a gigantic seven-day-old battle was raging in the Don Bend above Stalingrad, involving thousands of troops, planes, field guns and tanks.

Red Star said the Germans reached the eastern bank of the river in one sector but were driven back.

Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, said Germany now was throwing her last resources into the great summer offensive.

"The enemy is not so strong as he appears to some scared panic-mongers," Pravda said.

Front-line dispatches said Marshal Semeon Timoshenka was rushing huge reserves of manpower into the struggle, while Nazi prisoners were quoted as saying that the Germans were forced to shift troops from other sectors of the front to bolster the Don river offensive.

A mid-day bulletin from Soviet headquarters indicated that the Germans, hurling waves of 40 to 50 tanks into a series of attacks, had gained some ground in the Kletskaya sector, 80 miles northwest of Stalingrad, but the communique added:

"All attempts by the Germans to drive wedges into our defenses failed."

This indicated that the Russians were doggedly holding their lines intact, slowly yielding where necessary, and frustrating the Nazi tactics of encirclement and annihilation.

Soviet troops were credited with destroying 123 tanks and killing 4,000 Germans in a half a dozen engagements within the last 36 hours.

On the far southern front, where Gen. Fedor Von Bock's armies are striking toward the Caucasus oil treasures, the Russians conceded fresh German gains in the Bataisk sector, 15 miles below Rostov-on-Don.

"Heavy fighting is going on," a

FORMER MARION ATTORNEY ACCUSED

Crestline Lawyer Named in Disbarment Proceedings.

Edward C. King of Crestline, former Marion attorney, faces disbarment proceedings in the Crawford county common pleas court, according to a news report from Bucyrus, where specific charges against him were filed late yesterday for consideration of the court.

Mr. King, who practiced here in the Marion building on South Main street for several years about 10 years ago, was investigated by W. J. Schwenck, J. W. Wright and C. V. Vollrath, Bucyrus attorneys who were named recently by Judge Clarence U. Ahl of the Bucyrus common pleas court, to make the investigation.

Mr. King came to Marion from Crestline, his home, and returned there after he closed his office here.

Following are the specific charges filed against him:

1—That on Nov. 6, 1940, King was employed by Esther Marie Krofta to handle a divorce case for her and that she allegedly paid him $65 including $15 for court costs and $50 for his fee. It is alleged that he did not represent her in any way but that he still holds the $65.

2—Myrtle Halbert of Galion is alleged to have employed King on Feb. 25, 1940, to bring a suit against H. G. Kimes in Justice Charles Monroe's court in Galion, for which King allegedly was given $7.50, but never filed the case and did not refund the money.

3—As attorney for Frank Riedel, executor of the estate of Samantha A. Riedel, in probate court in Richland county, King, in October of 1939, allegedly unlawfully withdrew $340 of the estate's funds and put the money to his own use and was cited by probate court in Richland county. It is further alleged that King's [illegible] or paid the estate the amount unlawfully [illegible] used.

Hopkins Marries N. Y. Socialite in White House

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 30 — Harry Hopkins, presidential aid, and Mrs. Louise Gill Macy, New York socialite and fashion writer, were married today in the first White House wedding in 24 years. President and Mrs. Roosevelt were present.

The simple ceremony took place in the President's oval study on the second floor of the White House.

Rev. Dr. Russell J. Clinchy of Hartford, Conn., read the vows. The guest list, in addition to Mrs. Clinchy, was limited to 13 members of the immediate families of the bride and groom, and in addition, members of the White House staff.

After the ceremony, the President and Mrs. Roosevelt were hosts at a luncheon for the wedding guests.

Mrs. Hopkins' wedding dress was a simple, street-length blue crepe. Her especially designed jewelry included earclips, lapel pins incorporating a victory knot motif copied from a sailor's manual. The wedding ring was a twist of gold rope, and the engagement ring a cluster of diamonds set in gold rope.

CRIPPS WON'T REVEAL SECOND FRONT PLANS

Declines Information Before Recess of Commons.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 30 — Sir Stafford Cripps, government spokesman in the house of commons, told questioners in commons today for a second time that plans regarding a second front could not be divulged.

Amid widespread agitation for an invasion of the continent, Thomas L. Horabin, Liberal, asked for a secret session of the house before summer recess so its members could inquire into the government's "military intentions."

Sir Stafford said that, just as he had informed commons last week, the government would not be able to reveal such plans "even in secret session."

William Gallacher, Communist, said "they could tell us if they had any intentions."

"I can tell him now," replied Sir Stafford, "that we have intentions."

He did not elaborate upon this statement.

Cripps also announced [illegible] jointly today that Prime Minister Churchill would go [illegible] again on the [illegible] before commencing [illegible] sessions.

Ordnance Plant Will Have Restaurant With Capacity for 1,000 Diners An Hour

Work Progresses on Huge and Modernly Equipped Cafeteria Planned To Serve Scioto's Employes.

By BOB BYRD

One of Ohio's most unusual restaurants is taking shape at the Scioto Ordnance Plant administration area.

It's in a big, sprawling one-story building marked, "Cafeteria," and the story of its size and the scale on which it will be operated can be fully appreciated only by persons who have helped prepare dinners for threshing rings, large church groups or the like.

Here are a few figures that help convey a picture of the cafeteria and its equipment:

The main room in which patrons will be served and where they will eat is 144 feet long and 64 feet wide.

Facilities are provided to feed some 1,000 persons an hour, in a rush period.

Ovens are provided to roast enough meat at one time to feed 1,000 persons.

Two deep fat fryers, heated by electricity, each holds 90 pounds of fat.

It will take a corps of 10 persons working full time to keep the place up to the rigid standards of cleanliness set up for the cafeteria.

One hundred pies can be baked at one time.

Two 60-gallon soup kettles will be operated.

Automatic dishwashing machinery capable of handling roughly 5,000 dishes an hour will be used.

Several large refrigeration rooms are provided, one of which will be used only for meats. It can handle a dozen whole carcasses at one time.

Some of the equipment ordered for the cafeteria includes 200 dozen nine-inch plates, 300 dozen six and three-quarter inch plates, 250 dozen teacups, 500 dozen tumblers, 333 dozen fruit juice glasses, 100 dozen ash trays and 1,000 cafeteria trays.

The cafeteria, along with the rest of the war plant, is being built by the combined forces of the Hunkin-Conkey Construction Co. and Holtzbird & Root. The purchase and installation of equipment has been directly under the supervision of John G. McCloskey, commissary manager for the Hunkin-Conkey Construction Co. In addition to directing the finishing touches on the new cafeteria, he supervises operation of two commissaries which have been in operation for several months on a temporary basis.

Equipment Arriving

No date for start of operations in the new cafeteria has been set, but the equipment is arriving regularly and connections for electricity and water are to be made soon.

It will have all of the niceties of a commercial restaurant, with fully modern and complete equipment. It is arranged to operate two lines of patrons simultaneously to speed the serving of food. Customers will come in the front door and form two parallel lines leading to the center of the 80-foot counter. One line will move northward along the north half of the counter, the other line southward along the south half. This arrangement also permits the operation of one line at a time during periods when there are comparatively few workers to be fed.

Oil burners will be used to heat the building and to provide the huge volume of hot water that will be required.

The kitchen equipment would bring joy to the heart of the operator of a large hotel dining room. Most of the equipment is electrically heated and is of the latest design. The battery of ranges provides a top cooking area 12 feet long and four feet wide. There are two heavy-duty griddles for chops, hamburgers and the like. Since the cafeteria will specialize in feeding a large volume of workers, the day's menu probably will not be as long as those in commercial restaurants, but probably will be limited to a choice of about three hot meals.

Vegetables Cooked

All vegetables will be cooked by pressure steam, the battery of pressure cookers to [illegible] meals in large quantities.

BIDDLE SAYS PRESIDENT HAS FULL POWER

As Commander-in-Chief He Is Not Answerable To Justices' Orders.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 30—Attorney General Biddle, discussing the validity of the military commission established by President Roosevelt to try eight alleged Nazi saboteurs, told the supreme court, as it resumed its hearing today that the President could not be made answerable to it while acting as commander-in-chief of the nation's armed forces.

He expressed this view in response to a question of Justice Jackson while arguing in opposition to a petition by seven of the eight Nazis who came from Germany by submarine for a writ which would take them out of the custody of the military commission before which they are on trial for their lives.

The central issue before the court is the contention of counsel for the prisoners that a presidential proclamation denying them the use of the civil courts and ordering a military trial is "totally invalid and unconstitutional."

While Biddle was discussing this, Justice Jackson asked the attorney general whether the court would have "anything to say about it" if the President of the United States violated the law while acting as commander-in-chief.

"No, the commander-in-chief himself is final authority," Biddle replied.

Shortly thereafter Biddle concluded his argument and the defense counsel, Colonel Kenneth Royall, began presentation of his rebuttal.

Eight of the nine justices were present. Justice Douglas, who was absent yesterday because of the long train trip from Oregon, arrived overnight and took his place between Justices Reed and Byrnes. The only member missing was Justice Murphy, who disqualified himself because he is on duty as a lieutenant colonel in the army.

Attorney General Biddle, wearing a black business suit instead of the white linen he wore yesterday, resumed his argument in opposition to the petition of the prisoners for a writ which would remove the accused from the custody of the army and place them before the civil courts. All eight of the prisoners have been on trial before a presidentially-appointed panel of seven generals.

Biddle was expected to require an hour or more to complete his argument.

Defense Needs Hour

He will be followed by Colonel Kenneth Royall of the defense staff, who said he might require another hour.

There was no formal announcement immediately, but participants in the trial acknowledged that the secret military proceeding, in recess since late Monday, would not be resumed until Friday morning.

Defense and prosecution counsel centered their efforts during the morning on preparation for the final hours of arguing the validity of President Roosevelt's proclamation denying civil courts to the eight men and his decree that they be tried by a panel of seven generals.

Before the high court's noon convening time, the defense prepared papers for filing in the court of appeals for the District of Columbia to cover a technicality raised by Justice Frankfurter at the start of the arguments yesterday.

Colonel Kenneth Royall of the defense staff explained that this was a mere technicality to fill the gap between the district court, where the defense was denied the right to be heard on Tuesday, and the supreme court.

The only prisoner who has not joined in the action before the supreme court is George John Dasch, whose status has been somewhat different from that of his seven companions since the trial began July 8. At that time a special counsel, Colonel Carl Ristine, was appointed to defend Dasch before the military commission.

That led immediately to speculation that Dasch was being given special treatment because he had assisted the government in the preparation of its case. There were other but less obvious indications that that was true.

The fact that Dasch did not join in the effort to obtain a writ of habeas corpus would not prevent him from benefitting from any favorable action of the high tribunal. It appears that any decision by the court affecting the other prisoners could be applied also to Dasch merely by having him go before the court with a similar petition.

COLUMBUS VICE DRIVE SPURRED

Campaign Begun by Former Marion Man To Protect Soldiers Gains Headway.

A campaign started by Col. O. M. Baldinger, former Marion man now commanding officer at Lockbourne air base near Columbus, to rid the vicinity of the glider training base of vice conditions, gathered new momentum today, The Associated Press reported from Columbus.

Following Col. Baldinger's single-handed campaign to close a drinking and dancing spot near the base to protect the trainees from the proximity of vice, Col. Frank V. Meriweather, service command liaison officer, spoke to a group of Columbus and Franklin county police officials yesterday and reported that Columbus was the worst city in the Fifth Service Command area in the spread of venereal diseases this month. Mayor Green of Columbus was to push the campaign today at a conference with health, police and court officials.

Cites Army Problems

After telling the officials of the problems the army faces in fighting against these diseases, Col. Meriweather said:

"This town has the highest incidence of venereal diseases of any town of the corps area this month.

"These boys (soldiers) do not contract these diseases on the reservation."

He told how, as near as possible, the army will furnish officials with addresses of the places where soldiers get these diseases. He added:

"We are appealing to you people to close up these sources of venereal diseases. Close them and run these women out into a more gainful business."

Classifies Trouble

He classified the women into three groups:

Those in the houses of prostitution.

The clandestine prostitutes.

OHIOAN AMONG 11 KILLED IN CRASH

By The Associated Press

MINNEAPOLIS, July 30 — A large cargo transport airplane being operated by Northwest Airlines for the U. S. army crashed on the takeoff at Wold-Chamberlain field here at about 8 a. m. Eleven northwest airlines employes were killed.

Witnesses said the plane got about 200 feet off the ground and then crashed on the airport proper, bursting into flames.

Among the known dead, announced by Northwest Airlines officials, was John F. Fisher, 26, Fremont, O., co-pilot.

The plane, a 247 Boeing 19 passenger, was loaded with 270 gallons of gasoline before the takeoff. The ship, formerly owned by United Airlines, belonged to the government and had been acquired by Northwest Airlines to use as a cargo ship on the northern division.

It was operated under the ferry command.

The wall between the kitchen and serving room has four large compartments, two of them heated and the other two refrigerated. Into these the kitchen workers will place trays of food ready for serving. The compartments also have doors opening into the serving room and persons working along the counter will reach into these compartments when they need to replenish the counter supplies.

The food to be served will include soups, meats, vegetables, tea, puddings and a variety of other garments.

The kitchen interior is walled and ceiled with a fireproof material.

Plan Full-time Operation

It is expected that the cafeteria will provide food 24 hours a day. There will be a small lunch counter for use during periods when the cafeteria counters are not in operation.

At the rear of the building is a long platform where eight trucks may load or unload materials at one time. This area will be brilliantly lighted at night.

One of the two commissary units now operating is in the center of one of the construction areas, and the other is considerably smaller and is located in the administration area.

The larger of the two handles some 2,000 transactions a day, and functions smoothly despite the fact it is housed in a garage-type building and operates with considerable make-shift equipment.

For example, carpenters and [illegible]smiths had to be called into action when the Hunkin-Conkey company couldn't get some equipment as quickly as it was needed. They built tables and benches, some counter equipment and constructed big walk-in type refrigerators. When the first hot water heater placed in operation failed to deliver enough hot water, the workers rigged up a boiler outside the building, fired it with coal and now there is plenty of hot water.

The larger commissary now serves about 400 hot meals a day, plus scores of sandwiches. It handles a variety of foods, candies and tobacco.

Started in May

The commissary got off to a modest start last May with the arrival of two persons to start provisions for feeding the workers. Four days later, coffee, hot dogs and soft drinks were on sale. Since then the scope of the commissary has been expanded and the present staff consists of 26 persons. This is expected to increase to around 200 when the new cafeteria goes into operation.

The home of the commissary in the construction area is about 50 x80 feet and its equipment includes a 15 combination table-bench units. It offers a choice of a hot meal or a cold plate, and is geared to serve workers quickly cafeteria style. Speedy handling of food is important because the workers take only half an hour for lunch.

Much of the equipment is of commercial restaurant type, supplemented by equipment built on the grounds. It is screened in, has ample refrigeration facilities, including a walk-in type refrigerators to preserve foods. More than 1,000 gallons of water a day are used for washing dishes and keeping the place clean.

Hours of workers are staggered to some extent to permit them to have different lunch hours and thus enable more of them to make use of the commissary. Simplicity is the keynote of the whole setup. Instead of having menu cards on the tables, the workers learn what's being served by glancing at a big blackboard as they walk in.

The other, smaller commissary is located on the edge of the administration area and has no tables. Workers are served out of a row of small windows along one side of a frame building. Sandwiches, coffee and bottled soft drinks are sold.

Damaged Bridge On Airport Rd. Repaired

The Airport road, closed to traffic since July 22, when a bridge buckled just as a truck passed over it, was scheduled to be re-opened about noon today, following completion of repairs to the bridge.

County Engineer Walter W. Johnson said yesterday that the under-structure of the bridge has been painted and that rain yesterday morning delayed work for a time. The bridge is located 500 feet east of the airport hangar. Traffic has been detoured over Route 30-S to County Route 95-C at Elzie's Place.

The films will be transported by clipper planes to overseas distribution points where the letters will be reproduced on V-mail sheets and delivered to the men in the service.

Eastern Star Chorus in Program at Galion

Special to The Star

GALION, July 30—The Eastern Star chorus directed by Mrs. Louise Koppe presented several selections for the Wednesday afternoon meeting of the Dorcas Society of the First Reformed church. In charge of Mrs. Charles Tracht, the program opened with devotionals by Hulda Klopp, after which the July patriotic theme was carried out. Two topics were presented by Mrs. Homer Rensch and Mrs. Charles Tracht. During the business meeting it was decided to purchase a service flag and gifts for the men in service who are members of the church. A donation for migrant workers was sent to the Council of Churches.

• • •

Twenty-two women of the Galion country club met Wednesday noon for a luncheon following a morning spent playing golf. Hostesses for the luncheon were Mrs. James L. Lymper and Mrs. Florence Kruger.

• • •

Members of the Pythian Sisters and their families held a picnic at Heise Park Wednesday.

• • •

Adding a novel feature to their patriotic rally which they held Wednesday night at the lodge rooms, the Galion Aerie, No. 630, Fraternal Order of Eagles, added salvage materials to the war effort. Each member attending had to present some item of salvage.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels; so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

GALION GROUP ON PICNIC

GALION, July 30—Mrs. Elizabeth Pensinger was chairman for the evening picnic held at Heise park Wednesday evening when the Willing Workers of St. Joseph's church met. Twenty-four members were present and after the supper pinochle and bridge were the diversion.

But the most revolting practice, said Bailey, was to let the birds starve to death by the hundreds in a dry cistern so that the fatty tissues of their bodies would be used up, enabling the Japanese to cure the wings with little or no cleaning.

These fruitful operations were interrupted by a U. S. revenue cutter which hauled the raiding party and their bird wings back to Honolulu.

Ironically enough, it wasn't this raid which caused the greatest destruction on Laysan. It was a pair of rabbits released on the island by a well-meaning workman for the benefit of shipwrecked seamen.

They and their progeny ate so much of the vegetation that the island became in part a desert. Some of the unique species were exterminated.

Today the vegetation is coming back and—barring Japanese and rabbits—Laysan may regain much of her bird population.

'42 MILKLESS CHICK RATION SUCCESSFUL

12-Week Old Test Chicks Heavier Than 1941 Lot.

February hatched pullets at the Missouri Experiment station made better growth this spring on a wartime milkless ration than did pullets hatched at the same time a year ago and fed the former standard ration. This year's pullets, according to H. L. Kempster, head of the poultry department, weighed 5 to 8 per cent more at 12 weeks of age than did the comparable pullets a year ago.

The new chick feed formula, which was developed early this year to reduce costs and avoid unnecessary drains on the country's supply of milk products is thus proving slightly more efficient than the old ration. The new ration can be bought—even in war time — at prices no higher than those paid a year ago for the old ration.

Last year the Missouri chick starter contained 5 per cent of alfalfa leaf meal, 5 per cent dried milk, and 10 per cent meat scrap. The new formula contains no dried milk and only 5 per cent of meat scrap. To make up for these reductions in protein, the new formula was made to contain 10 per cent alfalfa leaf meal and 15 per cent soybean oil meal.

The complete formula for the new and cheaper ration, stated in pounds of each ingredient, is as follows:

Yellow corn meal	45
Wheat bran	5
Alfalfa leaf meal	10
Wheat shorts	15
Meat scrap	7
Soybean oil meal	15
Steamed bone meal	1½
Salt	1
Cod liver oil	1

Chick starter mixed according to this formula by cooperative feed stores in some localities in the state has been selling at $2.75 a hundred pounds.

A New Jersey plant has developed a process for making tallow white enough for use in new soap.

Inspect Broilers Before Marketing

COLUMBUS, O.—Many poultrymen who keep their own breeding flocks of chickens, slow down the improvement of their birds by using exactly the wrong period to cull the cockerels, according to G. S. Vickers, fieldman for the Ohio Poultry Improvement Association.

Too many poultrymen, Vickers said, sell their best cockerels for broilers. The reason for this practice, he explained is that the most vigorous cockerels grow fastest, have the best plumage, and are more attractive to buyers when the birds are of broiler age.

Vickers recommended three cullings. The first should be made, he asserted, when the chicks are about two weeks old to allow the poultrymen to mark cockerels which have feathered earliest.

At broiler age, the marked cockerels should be reexamined and those which have made good on their early promise are marked again. The final selection is made when the birds are taken for the breeding flock.

Be Independent, but Cooperate

IT IS apparent from the account of last Monday night's city council proceedings that the municipal government machinery has slipped a cog as far as connections between the legislative and executive departments are concerned.

Members of council represent that the mayor asks them to act upon measures without adequate explanation, and as an expression of resentment they refused to act on two important appropriation proposals at Monday night's meeting.

On the subject one member of council said: "It seems that council is in the dark every meeting night. Legislation comes up that we know nothing about."

Council certainly is justified in demanding that it be informed about legislation coming before it, and if it took action without being informed the time would be ripe for citizens to call for some resignations from their legislative body.

But from all that we hear about methods used by the mayor in presenting proposed legislation to council, we can't see that council has any sound reason for criticizing him. The usual procedure is for the mayor to meet with council in caucus before each council meeting and in this caucus he submits proposals for consideration. This he did in Monday night's caucus and according to accounts of that preliminary session, no questions were asked by council members. Yet when the same measures came up about an hour later in the open session, councilmen complained that they lacked adequate information and voted to table the proposals.

While this was going on, the mayor was in his office nearby, obviously could easily have been reached for questioning, and probably would have cleared the way for council action within a few minutes. This became evident the next day when a reporter talked with him and speedily received the information that council sought.

We hope that this apparent lack of teamwork between the two branches of city government will be remedied without delay. Both should operate independently as far as their separate and distinct prerogatives are concerned, but at the same time it is essential that they cooperate for the general welfare of the municipality.

Such cooperation has been notably effective during the last two administrations, headed by the former mayor, Dr. Smith, and the present mayor, Mr. Snare. Under this system the city's finances have been rescued from long prevailing treasury deficits and placed on a sound foundation and municipal management made generally more efficient. This is no time to break down the system which made that achievement possible.

There is no reason nor excuse for council ever voting "in the dark" on any legislation. No one has the power or authority to make them follow that course. Their intelligence and sense of obligation to the city of Marion are all that can rightfully dictate their course of action. If they vote blindly on any matter coming before them they have only themselves to blame. It is a responsibility that can not be shifted to other shoulders.

Their Obligation as Americans

OPINION in Washington is reported to be critical of the legal move that caused the supreme court to meet in special session to consider the rights of eight Nazi saboteurs on trial before a military commission. There is a prevailing feeling that the prisoners should be handled more as the Nazis would handle saboteurs—or at least their case should be wound up more quickly.

This feeling is in disregard of the obligation, which the officers ordered to defend the prisoners have accepted, to exhaust every proper recourse in law in their behalf. That is part of the ethical code that goes with the American way of doing things. It would be the easiest thing in the world to lynch the Nazi saboteurs, for instance. Certainly it would be easy to stage the modified mockery of lynching that the Nazis call a military court. But that would raise the question of whether or not it is possible to do anything the Nazi way without repudiating the basic principles of the American way.

The moral effect of convicting the saboteurs after using up every means of defense will be worth whatever time and effort are spent in their behalf. The officers who have insisted on taking the case to the supreme court have set an example that may have as much effect on the outcome of the war as a few billion dollars' worth of war production.

News Behind the News

Viewing Probable Course of Hitler Should He Eliminate Russia.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, July 30—The unvarying sad news from Russia has caused authorities here to face the prospects of how this war will turn, if Hitler reaches his immediate objectives, Stalingrad, the Volga and Caucasus oil.

It is not likely that he will come back and attempt to conquer Britain. The British have too much of an air force now. That possibility is therefore eliminated from practically every official list.

And if he cannot hope to conquer Britain by assault, much less can he be expected to attempt invasion of the United States or this hemisphere. We have control of the intervening seas.

There is more reason to believe he will carry his currently moving blows on through to the near east. From Stalingrad, he may try to move south to the Caspian. From Rostov he could hope to sweep through the Caucasus into Iran.

By simultaneous thrusts through Syria and Egypt, he could join his forces for a march to the Indian ocean. Turkey would be surrounded by such a venture, and would be compelled to cooperate.

Success in Russia would enable Hitler to shift to Egypt whatever forces are necessary to drive the British out of the Suez, while our long line of supplies to that front would prevent us from equaling his reinforcements.

An attack by Japan on Russia, in event of her full defeat in the west, must naturally be assumed. Our supplies to Russia could possibly be cut by the axis at Murmansk, Persia and Vladivostok, or held to a trickle.

Collaboration

Whether or not the Russian army is able to remain as a fighting force, Hitler would be expected to swing to the defensive and try to operate his own new order through the continents of Europe and Asia, in collaboration with Japan.

With enough oil, wheat, tin, rubber and other raw materials, he might logically expect to maintain indefinitely a defensive strategy of warfare—until such time as we are able to invade the continent of Europe and destroy him (a hope which will require greater and greater mustering of power by us as Russia weakens, and each day passes.)

Anyone who expects the war to be over this year or next year must now begin to take these matters into consideration.

If Hitler ever gets full possession of Europe and Asia, the required scheme of attack upon the United States is obvious. We may be too remote geographically and too strong militarily for invasion, but we will certainly face a typical Hitler effort to promote revolution within.

No doubt all Nazi cunning will be devoted to promoting subtle disunity and dissatisfaction with our existing form of government. On that home front will be an active battle line.

Unity Imperative

For this reason, every mistake of this government which creates dissatisfaction or a sense of injustice among our people is an encouragement to Hitler's intentions.

Any supposedly patriotic efforts to promote group antagonism among the Negroes and others is a paving stone on the road of Hitler's purposes. (The Communists always thought this was the way to revolution).

Any weakening of our will to fight will likewise prepare the way.

The time has come for cautious, fair and sensible leadership in every group, in the administration, labor, among farmers, radicals, conservatives, Negroes, white-collared workers and the middle classes. There was never a time in our history when group selfishness could be considered more suicidal or more treasoning to the national welfare.

This required doctrine should first be applied to the current grave controversy as to whether our planes and equipment are efficient and our fighting officers capable.

If it not within the responsibility of the press or a columnist to decide whether these technical military requirements are being satisfactorily met. No outsider can possibly know who is right in these technical disputes.

Responsibility

The responsibility rests solely with Mr. Roosevelt and the top officials of the war and navy departments, War Secretary Stimson, his assistant, Mr. Patterson, Navy Secretary Knox and his assistants. Only they can known whether we have good weapons and capable officers.

The charges made by Lyndon Johnson and others have brought complaints to their attention. If they do not cut ruthlessly through very string of red tape and eliminate every inefficient or inadequate person, they will bring nearer to realization their own words "We can lose this war."

How Much Information Does Debate About Second Front Give Enemy?

By WALTER LIPPMANN

NEW YORK, July 30—It is an interesting question whether the current debate about the second front gives information to the enemy. For it goes without saying that he has ample means of learning immediately what is being said in the newspapers and over the radio here and in Great Britain. His problem must be to decide not only how far this commentator or that one is actually informed about our real plans but to watch warily for the unconscious disclosures and inspired guesses.

At least one of our carefully planned operations this winter was largely frustrated because someone, who knew a little more than he had learned to handle made a speech.

In another case Mr. Churchill has told how during the two months which elapsed between the sailing of the expedition and the landing in Madagascar, he "felt a shiver every time I saw the word Madagascar in the newspapers. All these articles with diagrams and measured maps, showing how very important it was for us to take Madagascar and forestall the Japanese and be there—'first for once', filled me with apprehension. There was no question of leakage or breach of confidence . . . But shrewd surmise may be as dangerous as leakage and it was with considerable relief that I learned that the difficulties of our soldiers and their losses had not been aggravated."

Inadvertent Tips

Now, of course, the enemy knows perfectly well that no one who writes and speaks publicly has seen our war plans or has been told what they are by those who really know what they are. But military intelligence is the art of finding out what your enemy does not mean to tell you, and when a trained intelligence officer reads what Americans say about future military operations, he watches for inadvertent details which tip off what is actually being done. These details may be furnished by subordinate officials who, though engaged in the operation, do not know themselves what it is.

For any military operation is an immensely complicated affair which is prepared long in advance. A very large number of officers and civilians have to know something about it in order to move the forces and their supplies and the exact equipment to the place where the action begins. They are not told the whole plan, and indeed there may be several plans all of which require the same preparation—and the high command may wait until the last moment before it decides which plan to use.

But if the enemy intelligence can collect enough critical details, the high command of the enemy can often reconstruct the problem and the actual reasoning of the opposing command. A zoologist does not need to see the whole skeleton.

The risks of speculating about future plans are, therefore, very considerable. For, plainly, surprise is of the utmost importance in war, and it is, to say the least, very odd for anyone to argue publicly about the value of seizing the initiative and taking the offensive, and then to rob the initiative of its most important element, which is surprise, by examining expertly but publicly where our surprising initiative should be launched. For if the examination is at all expert, the enemy intelligence will know it from the inadvertent disclosures of details, yes, even from the inadvertent omissions of obvious links in the chain of reasoning.

It is, therefore, a very real question how those who have access of one kind or another to some military information should guard themselves against inadvertent disclosures in speculating about future operations.

I am not talking about speeches and editorials urging the government to help the Russians and the Chinese, and to reinforce the Middle East, and to bomb Germany, and to open another front somewhere.

Danger of Words

But a serious question arises when war plans are examined publicly, even in supposed general terms by those who have more military information than they mean to disclose. For they cannot really be sure whether or not they have disclosed it to the highly trained eye of the enemy intelligence. We must remember that a million readers, and the writer himself, may see nothing in what is written, but all that matters is what one intelligence officer may see in it.

The problem of concealing an operation and its true intent is a matter of the deepest concern to every commander. The Japanese solved the problem treacherously.

HIGH EXPLOSIVE!

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, July 30, 1932.

More than 37 million German voters prepared for the next day's election after one of the bloodiest and noisiest campaigns in the history of the Reich. The question was whether Germany was to go to the right or to the left. On the right was Adolf Hitler, with his threat that "heads would roll" in his demand for an end to the democracy. Alfred Hugenberg, old-time nationalist leader, with his call for a return of the kaiser and reestablishment of the monarchy, and there was the power of the present government of Chancellor Franz von Papen and the noted Junker and former soldier, Gen. Kurt Von Schleiber. On the left were the German Socialists chief support of a republican constitution, and still further leftward the Communist power under Ernst Thaelmann demanding the end of capitalism and an alliance with Soviet Russia. Final radio appeals had been made the preceding night. Rioting continued to the last. Hitler after a whirlwind tour of Aachen, Frankfort-am-Main, Wiesbaden and the Palanitine, flew to Ruetlingen to address a meeting. There his Nazi adherents were set upon by hostile crowds as they gathered to listen to him and police had to break up the fight with their clubs. Closing hours of the campaign took a toll of five lives in the provinces.

William D. Boxwell, 23, of Green Camp, was killed in an automobile accident a mile west of his home.

George M. Laughman, district deputy grand master of the Odd Fellows, presided at a district meeting of the organization held at LaRue. Speakers included Mr. Laughman, Fred Roberts, Earl Brewer, R. G. Williamson and I. E. Bolander.

Inflation Squeeze Play

Even Little Steel Decision May Suffer in New Move.

By JOHN GROVER

WASHINGTON, July 30—Official Washington is in a dither of speculation over probable repercussions from the "little steel" decision of the war labor board, granting 150,000 steelworkers a 44-cent daily wage boost.

In effect, the decision lays down a formula that steel workers deserved a 15 per cent pay hike because the cost of living increased 15 per cent since January, 1941.

Most important question left unanswered by the decision is: will the 15 per cent increase be applied generally in all future wage disputes certified to the war labor board?

The board has indicated that all cases will be considered individually, and that no blanket formula will be applied. However, from a practical standpoint, it will be difficult to discount that decision in adjudicating future wage disputes, as the 15 per cent living cost increase is general over the whole country in industrial areas.

Labor was quick to seize on this entering wedge for general wage increases. Philip Murray, CIO president, announced that renegotiations of "Big Steel" wages, affecting 400,000 more steelworkers, on the basis of the 15 per cent boost, was immediately contemplated.

Consensus of the ablest analysts is that organized labor generally will seek to ride the cost-of-living escalator under the formula laid down in the "little steel" case.

Henderson's Plight

Just where the decision leaves price czar Leon Henderson is another $64 question agitating the capital. The apparent indifference of the administration to Henderson's official fate is one of the capital's current mysteries.

Even his enemies applauded Henderson's basic concepts of price control. When the President enunciated his seven-point anti-inflation program, it appeared to be the green light for Henderson to apply really effective controls to the factors influencing price increases — of which wages and farm prices are most important.

Since then, however, congressional wolves and pressure groups of powerful influence — unions and the farm bloc, notably—have been pushing the paunchy price boss around. Congress whacked his funds for enforcing price control.

Livestock on the hoof and other important commodities were exempted from ceiling prices, and the farm bloc all but scuttled the effort to release feed grains at below parity prices. The "little steel" decision is the final, and possibly most important, assault on price ceilings, if it is construed as a formula for country-wide wage boosts.

Such a series of wage boosts would inevitably be reflected in consumer prices, which would again open the door to "adjustment" of wages upward and the inflation spiral Henderson has been predicting.

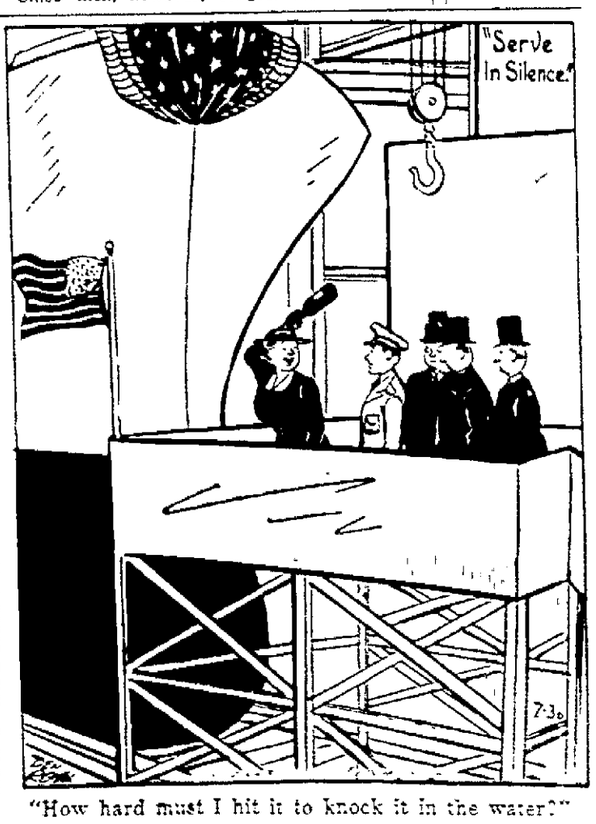
However, the immutable law of two-plus-two-equals-four is not amenable to political pressure and congressional jockeying, and two-plus-two is making Henderson look like the boy who had the right dope all the time.

The country was suddenly confronted with a fresh meat shortage as small packers, squeezed between mounting live animal prices and rigid retail price controls, went out of the market rather than operate at a loss.

Henderson didn't even have to say "I told you so." This was a primer lesson in price economics for everybody who eats meat.

President Roosevelt hastily called a conference on anti-inflation, and asked Attorney General Biddle for an interpretation of his authority for direct action on price control under the war powers act. It's likely that appropriate legal authority for whatever action is deemed necessary will be found.

The President's move leaves the whole complex situation subject to instant revision. It appears certain the administration will take direct action, and in view of the President's record of dramatic, precedent-upsetting action, even the scarcely-dry-behind-the-ears precedent in the "little steel" case is no safe indication of what's to come.



"How hard must I hit it to knock it in the water?"

Dim-Out

Personally, We Like Our White Way Toned Down a Little But Mighty Curious Things Happen.

By DAMON RUNYON

I MUST admit that my first reaction to the Broadway dim-out was a feeling of deep depression, but now that I have become accustomed to it, I find that it is not without its attractions. I think it lends an eerie aspect to the big town streets that makes them more interesting than they were when blazing with light.

A horse player of my acquaintance presents another angle to me that I feel merits consideration in the event the question of making the dim-out permanent comes up. He said that since the illumination has been toned down thousands of ardent followers of the gee-gee are enabled to walk the streets after nightfall without fear of being seen from a distance by their bookmakers and chased to cover.

About the only complaint I have heard came from a friend who claims that a dame who mistook him for her erring adored one leaped out of the shadows at 51st and Broadway on him the other night and gave him a terrific lambasting with a huge handbag loaded with those utensils characteristic of womankind.

I asked him why he did not run when attacked and he said well, he thought at first that it was his own fair frill who can spot him a good head start and outrun him and that by the time he observed that his assailant was a stranger he was too numb from the beating to move a muscle.

AS against this hazard of possible surprise on our citizens by sored-up damosels, however, we have the distinct advantage to managers of prizefighters of being able to take the charges outdoors after a battle and pay them off in the dim-out. It is a fine economic arrangement for the managers, and I understand some cafe owners would like to hand their customers their tabs under similar circumstances.

The dim-out is certainly not as ghastly as some of the horrified New Yorkers visiting other sections of the country narrate. They get the impression that the city is wrapped in stygian darkness. In fact, after listening to big towners I encountered away from New York, I rather expected that situation on returning to Manhattan. I was assured that I would not know New York any more.

I suppose the shock was tempered for me by the fact that the streets in the dim-out look just about the same as they do under normal conditions along toward daybreak when the big lights are no longer blazing anyway. That is the way I have been seeing them for years and the difference was probably not as noticeable to me as to those addicted to earlier hours.

The dim-out ought to satisfy the esthetes who have been squawking for years about the gaudiness of the former illumination. Broadway is now a study in soft shadows. I have an idea that it may have had a similar appearance in the gaslight era when there were no huge electric advertising signs and blazing marquees. I understand that some citizens are complaining that the dim-out serves as a cover for vice and crime, especially in the side streets, but I have no statistics on that point.

SOME of the side streets and the parks were not exactly havens of safety for pedestrians when the town was lighted up like a Christmas tree. If vice and crime has increased over the illuminated era, a man better stay home nights and get acquainted with his wife, if she is not afraid to go home in the dark. This dim-out may work out fine, after all.

As you perhaps know, the idea of the dim-out is partly to prevent ships at sea being silhouetted against the background of the former vast illumination and partly to conserve power. It does not hide the city in complete darkness from above, below, forward or aft, but there is enough of the darkness to make New York the darkest city in the country after nightfall, or one in total black-out.

New Army Clubs

Wide World Features

FORT GEORGE G. MEADE, Md.—The first non-commissioned officers' club in the nation now has held its first formal dinner dance—buck a couple and all the beer you can drink, so please place it in the top bracket.

Take it from Sergeant H. H. Church, who is president of the "Non-Coms Club," it has everything and more that the commissioned ladies can offer, and no "shavetails" allowed.

"Where, I asked you," asks the sergeant, "could you get a dinner, floor show, orchestra dancing and all the beer you could drink for the sum of one dollar?"

No answer. Sergeant Church didn't expect any. He waved expansively at the various features of the demodeled farmhouse, with its lounge room, clubrooms, magazine library, then said:

"This doesn't cost Uncle Sam one thin dime. The government gave us this clubhouse, opened in March, 1941. It was an old farmhouse, formerly the residence of the commanding officer of the post.

"We did the remodeling. We plan everything. We are NOT a military organization, just a private cooperative club, composed exclusively of sergeants. When a man becomes an officer, he's automatically dropped. We want to come back, but our by-laws won't let them."

The club was established in 1934 and now is the model for similar organizations springing up all over the country.

The dinner party honored three sergeants who had been commissioned as captains, and who were making their farewell club appearance. Their going made places for a few more sergeants, since the organization is limited to a membership of 750.

Every two weeks the club brings a professional floor show from Baltimore night clubs. On three times a week sponsors dances, parties, bingo and the like.

Costly Home Front Casualties

Casualties to the U. S. armed forces since Pearl Harbor have been 4,801 dead, 3,218 wounded and 36,124 missing—a total of 44,143. These figures are from the government.

Casualties to American workers since Pearl Harbor through accidents have been 30,000 dead and 2,500,000 wounded. These figures are from the National Safety Council.

The Council offered the comparison to add evidence that accidents help the Axis in destroying America's manpower that is vital to victory.

The total American accident toll since Pearl Harbor has been 60,000 killed and approximately 5,500,000 wounded, the Council said. Among the victims are thousands of skilled workers and key men in the nation's war program, who cannot be replaced.

"Casualties on the battlefront are a necessary sacrifice to perpetuate our freedom," said Howard H. Dearborn, executive vice-president of the Council. "Casualties on the homefront, through accidents, are preventable and hinder the efforts of our fighting men by sabotaging the production of the weapons and material of war.

"Those who fall in battle die for [illegible]. Those struck down by accidents die [illegible]. It is the duty of every patriotic American to conserve manpower for victory. We must prevent accidents."

Annual beet sugar production in the United States has risen from 850,000 tons in 1939 to 1,890,000 tons in 1940.

FEATHERED BOMBER STRAFES CAT

No—your eyes are not deceiving you—you're looking at a bird chasing a cat. Flying about with more maneuverability than a dive-bomber, the robin in the photos makes a habit of chasing Oscar, a Seattle, Wash., housecat. For some inexplicable reason the sight of Oscar sunning himself on the lawn annoys the bird and it dives at the cat with all guns firing. After pecking away with its sharp beak, the robin swoops upward to begin the attack again from another direction. Half the time the bird is behind Oscar before he can whirl about to face it.

BOMBERS HIT JAP DESTROYER

By The Associated Press

GENERAL MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, July 30 — Allied bombers hit a Japanese destroyer off Gona Mission, on New Guinea's Papuan peninsula coast, and left the warship wreathed in smoke and scurrying toward shore, apparently for beaching, a headquarters communique announced today.

It was the fourth enemy ship accounted for by allied airmen since the Japanese thrust their invasion force down the coast to gain their foothold last Wednesday, some 110 miles from the allied base at Port Moresby on the opposite shore of the Papuan peninsula. In previous attacks three transports were knocked out.

Allied planes made a destructive night raid on Gona Mission and destroyed an enemy pursuit plane in an air fight while skirmishing continued among allied and Japanese advance units in the Kokoda area, about midway between Port Moresby and Gona Mission.

The Japanese made three light night raids upon Port Moresby and sent two small formations over Darwin, northern Australian coastal city, early today.

A military spokesman said there were casualties on both sides in the clashes around Kokoda but was unable to state the number or whether the Japanese had been reinforced.

but superlatively well in December, partly by achieving perfect secrecy in assembling the task force which struck at Pearl Harbor, and partly by diverting our attention rather ostentatiously away from Hawaii and the Philippines to Indo-China and Malaya.

But even in a totalitarian state perfect secrecy is not possible if a great operation, as distinguished from a raid, is being prepared. In that event, concealment is sought by confusion; that is, by making the military dispositions in such a way that there appear to be several real choices, and then deliberately to plant information and spread rumors which contain so many truths, half truths, and falsehoods that the enemy intelligence is reporting all manner of conflicting evidence to its high command. Hitler has used these devices before all his great campaigns, and the Japanese have used them very effectively indeed since the fall of Singapore in regard to Australia, Alaska, Siberia and India.

Except for operations involving a few men and small equipment, the only method of concealment for free and talkative countries like Britain and America would seem to be to create confusion. For where you cannot black out the target you may have to blind the enemy with too many colored lights.

Few Farmers Leave Land for Jobs in War Plants

PHILADELPHIA — Modern farmers are not abandoning their properties to seek war jobs as did their farmers during the first World war, regional Farm Security Administrator J. H. Wood said recently.

He said that surveys showed many farmers were working in war industry, but returned to the farms after work to till the fields. Only 2.85 per cent of all FSA borrowers in the Maine to Maryland region have moved from the farm in the last year, he reported.

Employment off the farm decreased from 26.5 per cent in April, 1941, to 12.1 per cent in March of this year, Wood asserted.

He added that farm families were not sinking as rapidly into debt as they did in the last war. "They're not buying fancy clothes and shiny automobiles," he said. "They can't get them, and they don't want them. The first World war taught them a lesson they won't soon forget."

Life "floats" are replacing life boats in many instances in our Navy because of their greater safety and less likelihood to splinter or be affected by shell fragments. They are constructed of an elliptical portion of balsa wood, from which is suspended the float proper, carrying from 10 to 25 people.

There are provisions for food and water and some have automatic electric light equipment to aid in night rescue. The Life Float for 10 people costs about $185.00 each. You can provide this added protection for the boys in our Navy by your purchase of War Bonds and Stamps regularly every pay day. Spend at least 10 percent of your income for War Bonds.

Science Seeks Cancer Cure Through Use of Chemicals

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Wide World Science Editor)

NEW YORK — Following a sex hormone clue to cancer, Memorial hospital has isolated from human beings, with help of Harvard university, a number of hitherto unknown chemicals.

Although the chemical nature of these substances is still unknown, they are different when taken from people with cancer than from non-cancerous individuals. All have been found in urine.

This is one of three dramatic new attacks on cancer described today in the report of Dr. C. P. Rhoads, director of Memorial hospital, the oldest cancer institute in America.

The second is starvation of cancer cells, a possibility based on discoveries of extra amounts of vitamins in cancer cells or of vitamin upsets in cancer.

The third is a group of chemicals which, in glass tubes, hinder the growth of human breast cancer without interfering with healthy tissue growth.

The report says that the years of animal and human cancer experiments have now at last tied together in a discernible picture of cancer—one with gaps, but clearer than ever before available.

"The picture is somewhat as follows," the director states, "something goes wrong with the manufacture in the body of these chemicals which are similar in structure to the sex hormones.

"The error in manufacture gives rise to small quantities of compounds which, by their structure possess the power of changing normal into cancer cells."

The trail which led to this picture started years ago with the discovery that tar can cause skin cancer. Next, tar hydrocarbons were identified as closely akin to the structure of human sex hormones.

The body excretes hormones, and also the chemicals produced by hormones. The excretions may be very minute. But these trace fractions are likely to contain the cancer-causing things. It is a simple deal, the report points out to look for these. But really the job is one of the most difficult in chemistry.

The study at memorial, despite the significant clues already uncovered, is enormously expensive, requires a large highly trained staff, and a great outlay for chemicals and equipment. It is predicted this one job will take from one to several years more.

The idea of starving cancer cells comes from two facts: one that germs eat the same food as men, two, the peculiar way of sulfanilamide kills germs. The germs require a different selection of food, and a diet that might be enough for a man may starve some of his germs.

Sulfanilamide, it is found, does something like this to germs. It cuts down their oxygen.

Tissue cells are not greatly different from germs. They absorb food, they breathe by taking in oxygen. So Memorial has been studying the foodstuffs in cancer cells to see whether they differ from normal.

Already a vitamin a difference has been found connected with human stomach cancer. Much more definite is a difference found in the blood cancer cells which form leukemia. Those malignant cells contain a much higher than normal amount of vitamin B-1.

This leads to a hope that either vitamin starvation, or some other form of partial starvation may be found more damaging to cancer than to healthy tissue.

Sufficient Sugar for Million Cans of Fruit Allotted

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, July 30—Union county housewives will can nearly a million quarts of fruit this year, it was indicated by the amount of canning sugar allotted by the Union county ration board. Certificates for the purchase of 236 716 pounds of sugar have been issued by the board so far this season.

No general registration for canning sugar is planned any more this season as housewives generally have been issued sufficient canning sugar for the remainder of the year, Supt H W. Carr of the Marysville schools and chairman of the sugar panel of the ration board, said today.

On a basis of one pound for four quarts of fruit, the sugar allotted will be sufficient to can 946,864 quarts of fruit. With the county's population at 20,000 an average of 11.3 pounds per person has been issued for canning. This would mean that each person in the county would have 45 cans of fruit for consumption this winter.

Senator Brown Offers Plan To Carry Out Proposal.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 30 — A proposal to [illegible] individual incomes [illegible] a $25,000 a year into government [illegible] for the duration of the [illegible] advanced today by Senator Brown (D-Mich) a member of the senate finance committee sponsoring the program to add $21,000,000,000 to the nation's [illegible]

Brown told reporters he believed some such compromise may provide a workable way to putting into effect President Roosevelt's suggestion to limit net incomes of all persons to $25,000 a year, after payment of taxes.

A half dozen representatives of CIO unions led by Nathan E Cowan, told the committee yesterday that the workers of the nation were looking to congress to carry out the President's proposal, which was not acted upon by the house when it approved the present program.

Expressing approval of the limitation principle, Brown said he had been studying the possibility of attaining it through the institution of a post-war rebate provision such as the treasury has recommended for corporation excess profits taxes.

Under terms of such an amendment, Brown said, the treasury might take the surplus above $25,000 left to any individual after payment of his taxes in a levy for bonds that would be repayable after the war for capital expenditures or for outlays that would produce peace-time employment.

The committee heard a suggestion yesterday from Roy Little of Providence, R. I., president of the Atlantic Rayon Corp., that it boost individual income taxes so that he and others like him would have to pay double the $7,000 which he said would be due next year on his 1942 $20,000 net taxable income.

The witness said the $7,000 was "too damn little" tax for him to pay and expressed the opinion that the treasury could get an additional $1,000,000,000 from persons in his income class if rates were doubled.

mated signs on tour—far inland where there is no dimout.

When the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor, Leigh was operating 16 "spectaculars" in midtown Manhattan. They used enough electricity every night to light up all the residences in Leigh's native Anniston, Ala. (pop. 25,523.)

Handsomest Thing Out

If Leigh feels any pain about the demise of lights on Broadway, it isn't for himself—it's just that he thinks an electric light is about the handsomest thing in the world. For every idea he has put into effect successfully, he has a half-dozen that are simply too colossal—things like batteries of two-billion candlepower searchlights, and conversion of the tower of the Empire State building into a mammoth, glowing cigaret.

Leigh was 23 when he incorporated himself—the day of the national bank holiday—with virtually no cash assets and no technical knowledge of the sign business. A half-dozen years later he had a million-dollar enterprise.

Super-salesmanship did it, but Leigh is not the popular idea of the super-salesman. He's boyish, a little shy, and thinks that if he has the idea, his prospective customer will sell himself.

Leigh's shyness isn't timidity. His take-a-chance spirit is expressed by this motto standing on his desk:

"Nothing will ever be attempted if all possible objections must be first overcome."

More Work Ahead for Farm Women

"If we are going to meet our farm production goals, we will have to depend more and more on the women," Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard declared in a recent radio broadcast.

"Already there are plans," he said, "for getting groups of city women and high school boys and girls to help out on the farms. This is a fine thing. But for getting most of the steady, day-to-day work done, farm families will have to depend on themselves. That means more work than ever for farm women."

EAGLES SCHEDULE PATRIOTIC RALLY

Aug. 5 Event To Aid Salvage and Bond Drives.

Plans for a patriotic rally to be held Aug. 5 at 8 p. m. by Buckeye Aerie, No 307, Fraternal Order of Eagles, in the Eagles Hall on West Center street were made at the weekly meeting of the aerie last night.

The rally will be for members only and a number of novel features have been arranged for the program. To aid the national campaign to salvage vital materials necessary to the war effort, every member attending the rally must bring to it some item of salvage. All of this salvage material will be turned over to the local aerie salvage committee after the meeting.

The principal speaker will be George Herman of Springfield, O.

The rally is one of a number being held by the various Aeries of Eagles in Ohio, West Virginia, and Kentucky. Among other things to be stressed will be signing of pledges to purchase war bonds and stamps every payday. After the rally, refreshments will be served.

In addition to the plans for the rally, 13 applications for membership were received and 12 new members were initiated at the meeting last night. The initiation was in charge of the officers assisted by the uniformed drill team.

Arrangements for a picnic to be held Aug. 9 at Silver Grove Lake are in charge of Lee Collins, chairman of the entertainment committee. It will be the aerie's third annual picnic.

Monday there will be a dinner for progressive members. William Wise, social chairman, is in charge of arrangements.

STEEL PRODUCTION IMPROVEMENT SEEN

Magazine "Steel" Reports Advantage in WPB System.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, July 30—Sheet and tin plate production should show improvement under the WPB's quota system for each steel product and each producer, the magazine Steel said today.

"Workmen in these departments have been employed only part time and on irregular schedules," the trade publication noted in its weekly review, and the principal benefit of the quota system "will be steadier operation of certain finishing mills.

"While the level may be below capacity it will be preferable to the irregular operation in recent weeks, when only limited supply of semi-finished steel could be allocated after requirements of plate, bar and structural mills had been satisfied."

Steel said "nothing better has appeared in the scrap situation and a midsummer lull appears to be in effect, flow of material having slowed appreciably in several areas." As for pig iron, the other principal component of steel ingots, "supply is maintained satisfactorily under the allocation system and essential consumers are well supplied."

Ingot production advanced ½ point nationally last week to 98½ per cent of estimated capacity. The Pittsburgh district climbed ½ point to 94½ per cent, Cleveland 2 to 96½ and Cincinnati 3½ to 92 while Detroit was unchanged at 85 and Wheeling fell 3 points to 80½ per cent and Youngstown 1 to 95.

A process for drying some common vegetable oils the quick drying properties of tung oil for use in paints and varnishes has been developed at the University of Minnesota.

MARION FAT DRIVE PRODUCING RESULTS

12,000 Pounds Monthly Is Sought in City.

Women of Marion and vicinity are joining in the salvage drive for fats and, considering the short time which has elapsed since the appeal was made, a sizeable amount has been collected at the various meat markets and at the Whitcum Hide & Fuel Co at 185 Quarry street, a check today showed.

A goal of 12,000 pounds of fat a month from the kitchens of homes in Marion and community has been set "for the duration". Fats make glycerine and glycerine makes explosives for us and our allies, Mrs. J. E. Frew, chairman of the fat salvage committee explained in making the appeal.

Bacon grease, meat drippings, frying fats of all kinds are needed. Four cents a pound will be paid for the fats. Organizations or housewives making up neighborhood groups for salvaging the fat may have their contributions picked up by Whitcum Hide & Tallow Co, C. E. Buente said today. In addition the company will provide good clean containers for the fat collection, providing the quantity warrants, Mr. Buente states.

The fat may be taken to the meat dealer when a pound or more has been saved. The women are urged not to save the drippings too long and not to take their collection to the meat dealer on Friday or Saturday when he is probably the busiest.

Pretty Flower Turns Out To Be Marijuana

MARYSVILLE, July 30—Marijuana growing within the city limits of Marysville has been discovered. However, authorities have not been taken in on the case as the owner did not know the identity of the plant until last week-end.

Only one stalk of marijuana came up in the garden of Henry Haselbring on West Seventh street. It had beautiful foliage and he thought it was a flower. Finally when it reached a height of 11 feet and still had not bloomed, he started inquiries as to its identity.

A sample was sent to Ohio State university for study through County Extension Agent L. G. Brubaker. A report came back that it was "marijuana" along with advices to destroy the plant. It was cut down.

ATHENS, O., July 30 — Oral Daugherty of Nelsonville, coal mine operator, today announced that he would be a write-in candidate for the Democratic nomination for congress in the Tenth district. RUSSIA

Soviet communique said, referring to this region. "The enemy has launched several attacks and advanced in separate sectors.

A bulletin from Nazi field headquarters declared German troops had stormed and captured the town of Proletarskaya, 100 miles below the lower Don, thereby cutting the last direct rail line to the Caucasus oil fields. Oil may still be shipped, however, up the Caspian sea to the rail-river city of Astrakhan on the Volga.

100 Miles Past Rostov

The reported advance to Proletarskaya meant that the Germans had now swept 100 miles southeast beyond Rostov in their drive to the Caspian, and the speed of the thrust across the steppes indicated that they were meeting little opposition. Proletarskaya is 175 miles southwest of Stalingrad.

Dispatches to Red Star, the Soviet army newspaper, emphasized the gravity of the situation, declaring:

"Only by a self-sacrificing struggle will we hold the enemy from the south."

While the Russians fought desperately to stem the Nazi steamroller, British warplanes attacked Germany for the seventh time in 10 nights, heavily pounding the big steel manufacturing center of Saarbruecken in the heart of the great Saar valley coal fields. Nine RAF planes were listed as missing.

German night raiders countered with widely separated attacks on the British Isles, dropping a few bombs on greater London for the first time since June 3, striking at Birmingham in the industrial Midlands and East Anglia. Seven of the raiders were shot down.

In the battle of Egypt, British headquarters reported that land operations were again limited to minor patrol skirmishes and artillery fire, while dust storms restricted aerial activity.

Axis warplanes raided Cairo this morning, killing one person and inflicting slight property damage. Air-raid alarms also sunded in the Suez canal area and elsewhere in Egypt.

The municipality of Montevideo, Uruguay, has decreed the use of metal substitutes wherever possible in all construction projects.

Stalin Inspires People

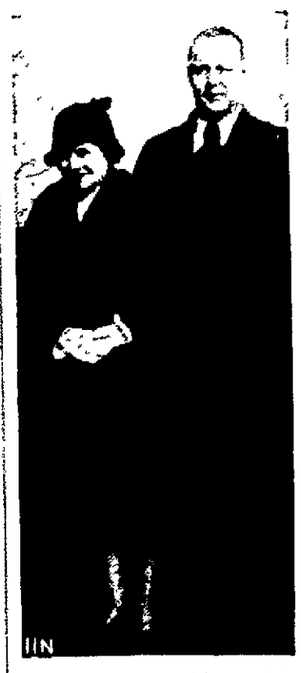
By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, July 30 — In a message to the Russian people Premier Joseph Stalin today invoked as inspiration in the present war against Germany the names of Russia's great heroes of the past, from Alexander Nevsky, who beat the ancient Teutonic knights, to Mikhail Kutuzov, whose dogged resistance made Napoleon's Russian invasion a failure.

"Let us be inspired in this war by the courageous images of our great ancestors, Nevsky, Suvorov and Kutozov," said Suvorov and Kutozov," said Stalin.

"Be inspired by the victorious banner of the great Lenin."

WATCH FOR HIM!



Have you seen this man? If you have, report to the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He is Walter Kappe, former Chicagoan now hunted as one of the three Nazi saboteurs for whom F. B. I. Chief J. Edgar Hoover has sent out a wide alarm. Kappe is shown with his wife, a Chicago girl.

Five Million Dollar Fund Available to Universities.

Special to The Star

ADA, O., July 30—Ohio Northern university students in engineering, physics, chemistry, and pharmacy will share in the $5,000,000 federal student loan fund, recently made available to the Federal Security Agency by congress, Robert Williams, president of Ohio Northern, announced today.

Under the provisions of the federal aid, loans will be in amounts not exceeding tuition and fees plus $25 per month and not exceeding a total of $500 to any student during any 12-month period.

To be eligible for the loans students must be in need of assistance, must maintain satisfactory standards of scholarship, and must be able to complete their technical education within two years.

The student must also agree in writing to engage for the duration of the war in such services or employment as may be assigned by officers or agencies designated by the War Manpower Commission.

Production and sale of foods fried in deep fat or oil has been prohibited in Switzerland and the use of oil and butter in sauces restricted.

STIMSON OPPOSES FARMER FURLOUGHS

War Secretary Declares Army Taining Comes First.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 30—Every interference with the rapid and efficient preparation of the armed forces for combat must be halted at once, Secretary Stimson said today in response to appeals of furlough of military personnel during the harvest season.

Exceptions to this policy, he said in a letter to Senator Nye, Republican-Independent, were being confined to cases of extreme emergency, and excessive furloughs or leaves would prejudice the progressive growth of our military power."

"If it should develop that the American people are confronted with a food emergency which cannot be met by existing surpluses," Stimson added, "the use of military personnel may be considered, but only if all sources of harvest labor have been exhausted and the military personnel is employed as units and not as individauls."

Stimson wrote Nye that his department was being "besieged" with results for release and furlough of soldiers on various grounds but that American participation in the war had brought a responsibility demanding rigid adherence to the objective of developing, in the shortest possible time, a highly trained military force.

"It is our responsibility to win the war * * *.

"To accomplish this we must have skilled, hardened soldiers who are better prepared and more highly proficient in the science of warfare than our enemies whose preparation for this conflict extends over a period of ten years and longer."

Concluding that Stimson had "missed the point of immediate seriousness" involved in the northwest harvest, Nye asked for a conference with the war secretary declaring.

"If surpluses and production were matters that could be taken care of in the normal way, I could better appreciate the apparent willingness at this time to overlook the grave danger of loss and waste which might prevail in the northwest if adequate and experienced labor hands are not made available to the farmers for use in this season."

WYANDOT CO. FARMERS WARNED OF CHINCH B.

County Agent Recommends Methods To Control Invaders.

UPPER SANDUSKY, July [illegible] the chinch bug season is [illegible] again, Wyandot county [illegible] were warned today by County Agent Crum. The bugs are moving, he said, into the corn where they pierce the stubble when wheat is harvested.

Most practical protection of the invasion is a heavy coating with creosote and the fence rows. Time and material costs are low and it will stop most of the chinch saboteurs.

A bucket with pulleys is the quickest and easiest of applying the creosote to cord, he said. A sample of a bucket is on display at the county extension office.

The millions of peoples of the 28 nations fighting against the Axis say it in thousands of languages and dialects, but it all adds up to the same thing—V for Victory.

In case you should want to greet some of your friends in the war slogan in their own tongue, here are phonetic translations of some of the more difficult ones:

'CHUTE SAVES LIFE OF AP PHOTOGRAPHER

Two Are Killed in Army Plane Crash.

By The Associated Press

VICTORVILLE Calif., July 30—Two men were killed and a third, Frank Filan, veteran photographer of The Associated Press, parachuted to safety in an accident involving two army bomoarcment training planes last night.

Killed were Sgt. Pilot Rodney M. Grim, 20, of the army air forces and Clarence L. Block, 29, Los Angeles, civilian photographer for the west coast army air forces training center.

Filan was found wandering, dazedly on the desert this morning, seven hours after the accident, by Lt. Clarence M. Skaggs and Lt. Col. A. J. McVea, who had set out in a jeep on a search, on the slender hope the star cameraman might have been able to use his parachute.

"I lost consciousness right after the accident," Filan told the officers, "but I came to and found myself falling, so I pulled the cord. As far as I know, I passed out again, and I don't know what happened then."

Filan was exhausted when he was found and was suffering from ankle and chest injuries and scalp lacerations.

POSSE OF 200 HUNTS MAN IN JAIL BREAK

Three Flee Fairfield Co. Jail Two Recaptured.

By The Associated Press

LANCASTER, O., July 30—A posse of nearly 200 men scoured a wooded area near the western city limits early today for Thomas Frizzell, 22, of Columbus, one of three prisoners who overpowered Deputy Sheriff Kenneth Greeno and escaped from the Fairfield county jail.

Frizzell's companions, Orville J. Wilson, 42, and Charles L. Condon, 23, both of Columbus, were seized after the jailbreak last night.

A Lancaster policeman caught Wilson in flight from the county building, and state highway patrolmen captured Condon on state route 158 six miles north of the city, as he was seeking to hitchhike a ride.

Greeno, unarmed, was not injured as the three, all held on breaking and entering charges surprised him when he entered the jail bullpen.

TESTIFIES U. S. NAVAL OFFICER ASKED GIFT

Beverly Hills Girl Tells of "Suggestion" to Ensigns.

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30—Patricia E. Bouchard, daughter of a socially prominent Beverly Hills family, told a naval court martial that Lieut. Comm. Maurice N. Aroff in her presence had suggested to two ensigns he had just sworn into the service that they "give me a little something."

The incident, Miss Bouchard said yesterday occurred in Aroff's hotel room the night Irving Cummings Jr. and Michael Levee of Los Angeles had received their commissions.

One section of the navy complaint against Aroff specifically alleges that the defendant "without proper authority received a pair of gold cuff links from "one Irving Cummings, U. S. naval reserve, as and for a contribution from him x x x a person in the government employ receiving a less salary than the said Aroff."

The complaint maintains the defendant received the $40 set of gold cufflinks from Cummings, son of a Hollywood movie director, another set from Ensign Lawrence Stromberg, and a $950 automobile from Tony Martin, radio and moving picture singer.

SHARE-RIDE PLAN MEETS COMPLICATION

Only One in Group Eligible To Buy Recap Tires.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, July 30—The office of war information said today "the war plant share the ride plan" was reported to have encountered complications in this area when plant workers learned that only one car owner in the share-the-ride pool is eligible to purchase rebuilt tires."

In an OWI-issued statement, Clifford Houser, OPA regional rationing representative, commented "the impression seems to have gotten around that each of five workers, by alternately driving the group to work, could get a recap on his tires, by using his car one week in five for essential transportation.

"The share-the-ride plan contemplates the use of only one car, and contemplates granting of tires for only one car, namely, the one used. Workers should bear in mind that the share-the-ride plan is devised for but one purpose and only one—to save tires.

"While the share-the-ride plan involves the use of one car only, there is no idea in it that there is a free ride at the expense of the man whose car is used. Workers participating in the plan are expected to bear their porportionate share of the transportation, making an equitable arrangement with the car owner, which would take care of gas, oil, tires, repairs and general depreciation."

SAYS U. S. SHIPYARDS WOULD BUILD PLANES

Firms Await Orders To Start, Congress Told.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 30—Henry J. Kaiser advised congress today an order from the government was all the nation's shipbuilders needed to launch them on the construction of giant cargo planes to speed the war effort and break the submarine menace.

The Oakland, Calif., shipbuilder told a senate defense investigating committee that he was awaiting a signal to convert part of his facilities to cargo plane construction and that the big steel companies would "rise to the occasion" if requested to make similar conversions.

Before the committee met, Senator Lee (D-Okla.) claimed strong support from aeronautical experts within the administration for legislation he is sponsoring to divert shipbuilding activities to plane production.

Kaiser agreed with Chairman Truman (D-Mo.) who said "the job can be done if there's a will to do it," and remarked that the Bonneville dam was built despite assertions of some experts it was an impossible job.

The Californian advocates diverting part of the facilities of nine shipbuilding plants to construction of huge flying boats for cargo and troop movement.

He testified that the United States and the Bethlehem Steel Corps. would give "only one answer" if they received a call to convert some of their shipyards, and that "in my mind there is no question they would rise to the occasion."

Colombia has begun forest conservation by setting aside areas in which felling will be limited and regulated, requiring reforesting of areas in which illegal cutting occurs.

Heavy Bombings of Nazi Cities Not Victory Guarantee

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

The disclosure by British Air Marshal Harris that a great Anglo-American air-fleet is about to scourge the reich, city by city, signals one of the major developments of the war, but while we can expect much from it we shall do well not to jump to the conclusion that this is a quick solution of all our troubles.

One's first thought naturally is whether this aerial assault is likely to divert enough Nazi strength from the Russian front to help the Reds materially in their present grave position. The answer would seem to be in the negative.

Continual and heavy bombing of German cities probably would force withdrawal of some Nazi air-power from the Muscovite front, and any easement would be all to the good for the Bolshevists. However, the bombing can scarcely affect the situation soon enough to help the Reds in their current fight.

Another Question

Another question that arises is how far such massed bombing might carry us towards victory—a burning topic of debate at the moment. There are those who maintain that the war can be won in the air.

This theory has yet to be proved, and in any event the forthcoming allied operations won't be on big enough scale at the outset to force an immediate decision. That bombing can play havoc with Hitler's war industries and transportation is a foregone conclusion, but the contribution this will make towards victory will depend on the trend of the Russo-German fighting.

If Hitler breaks through to fresh resources in the Caucasus, and hamstrings the Russian army, he will be able to bolster his flagging war industries in Czecho-Slovakia and other sections which won't be so much affected by the bombing as factories in western Europe. In other words, he will be able to strengthen his own air-fleet and anti-aircraft defenses and so be better able to meet the allied onslaught.

On the other hand, if the Russians are able to hold the Nazis, German industry will decline with ever-increasing speed. This will mean a deterioration of Hitler's air defense and thus will make the task of the allied air-fleet easier.

More Than Bombs Needed

Air Marshal Harris invited the German people to cast off Hitlerism and make peace, thereby avoiding destruction of their cities. Without evidence to support the idea, I don't think we should bank on the Germans quitting solely because of bombing. We've seen Warsaw endure a protracted deluge of bursting steel without a whimper, and we've seen the British defy the most terrific bombardment of history.

The Germans are a brave people and it will take a lot to break their morale. It wasn't fear of death by violence that made them surrender in the last war, but a combination of other circumstances: stark hunger, imposed by the British blockade, lack of a just cause for which to make further sacrifice for their war lord, and the encouragement of President Wilson's Utopian fourteen points.

However, similar circumstances are beginning to pile up on them now. Apart from other things, unless Hitler achieves success in this summer offensive, his people are likely to experience a winter of terrible distress. And certainly the death and destruction and nerve strain caused by bombing won't give their morale any uplift.

There's one other interesting thought. Any allied invasion of the continent must be preceded by a fierce aerial bombardment of coastal defenses, air bases, and transport lines. Once the bombing has cleared the way, we may get that second front.

GREW REFUSES TO TALK WITH JAPANESE

Tokyo Envoys' Request for Conference Rejected.

By The Associated Press

LAURENCO MARQUES, PORTUGUESE EAST AFRICA, July 24—(Delayed)—Joseph Clark Grew, homeward bound from his mission as United States Ambassador to Japan, firmly declined to speak to either Japanese Ambassador Admiral Hichisaburo Nomura or special envoy Saburo Kurusu while the three were in this port, it was disclosed today.

It was understood that Nomura sent word he would like to talk with the American envoy, but Grew declined to have any contact with the Japanese.

Naval intelligence officers said the passengers included a party of about 150 Polish technicians and their families enroute to Canada; 38 refugee children from France, and about 169 children from other nations. There were no Americans aboard.

VANDENBERG OFFERS DEPENDENCY CHANGE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 30—Senator Vandenberg, (R-Mich.) drafted for introduction in the senate today a measure to repeal a provision of the soldiers family allowance bill holding up payments to dependents of service men until after Nov. 1.

Vandenberg said he was surprised to learn that when it passed congress the bill carried a provision specifying that "any allowances which accrue under this title for the period preceding Nov. 1, 1942, shall not be actually paid until after Nov. 1, 1942."

"That is just two days before the general election date and it seems strange that such a provision should have been put into the law," Vandenberg told reporters. "I didn't know it was in there and I am sure that few others did."

Under terms of the bill deductions already are being made from the pay of men in the armed forces to apply on payments to wives, children and other dependents.

The government then adds a share in order to provide $50 monthly for a wife and additional funds for children.

Government Asks Public To Sell Typewriters

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 30—The state defense council today asked Ohioans owning standard typewriters manufactured since Jan. 1, 1935, to sell them to the federal government at the factory trade-in allowances as of Feb. 1, 1941.

The army and navy need at least 500,000 typewriters which cannot be supplied by manufacturers, acting Director Ralph Stone of the defense council said.

Judge Suspends Driving Rights of Marion Youth

Juvenile Judge Oscar Gast today suspended indefinitely the driving privileges of a 17-year-old West Side youth charged by city police of driving while intoxicated. The youth was arrested Wednesday night on Bellefontaine avenue following a minor auto collision with a car driven by Arthur P. Sweany, 60, of 252 Bellefontaine avenue.

Pelley Calls Lindbergh, Eccles as Witnesses

By The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS, July 30—William Dudley Pelley, former Silver Shirt leader on trial for sedition, yesterday subpaened several outstanding national figures, including Charles A. Lindbergh, as witnesses to aid in his defense.

Pelley also requested the calling of Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the federal reserve board, together with "any and all statements" showing the "gross worth" of the United States as of, or as near as possible to Dec. 31, 1941 and Jan. 12, 1942.

The request still required the approval of Judge Robert C. Baltzell but Oscar R. Ewing, special prosecutor, said the prosecution would not oppose it if the defense insisted Eccles' testimony was necessary.

Former Kenton Pastor Saves Victory Nickels

Special to The Star

KENTON, July 30—Chaplain A. Henry Giuliano, former pastor of the Kenton First Baptist church, is saving all the victory nickels he can lay his hands on and then converting them into another form of "V" (for victory) articles.

To date the minister has purchased two $25 war bonds with the nickels he has saved while serving the 38th (Cyclone) division at Camp Shelby, Miss.

EARTHQUAKE REPORTED

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 30 — Fordham university reported today that its seismograph recorded a "very severe" earthquake at 7:08:26 p. m. last night, approximately 9,600 miles from New York. Father Joseph Lynch, seismographer, was unable to determine its direction.

ACCIDENT DEATHS DOWN

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 30—Ten thousand lives would be saved, the National Safety council said today, if a record-breaking reduction in traffic deaths throughout the nation in June were maintained for the rest of the year. The June total of 2,090 fatalities was 32 per cent less than the June, 1941, toll, the greatest decrease for any one month in the council records.

India Ready To Take Over Rule, Leader Says

By The Associated Press

NEW DELHI, India, July 27—(Delayed) — A transfer of government in India from Britain to the Indians could be carried out without "chaos" because the British would be expected to stay or until a provisional government could be formed, Abdul Kalan Azad, president of the All-India Congress party, said today.

"The British administration would stay until such a government could be assembled, free of interference," the gray-haired party leader told a press conference. He asserted moreover that the congress would not insist that power be given to it but would be willing, if the British chose, to have the government transferred to the rival moslem league.

Study of Manpower Now Nearly Complete

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 30 — The White House said today that the study ordered by President Roosevelt on the subject of mobilization of the nation's manpower for both combat and non-combat war duty was about completed.

Stephen Early, White House press secretary, said the President asked Chairman Paul V. McNutt of the war manpower commission to make the study, that it had been underway about six months, and the subject "rather thoroughly explored."

Early would not go into detail as to what the study embraced, but the President from time to time has said that cataloguing of manpower, to a greater extent than in the past probably would be necessary to place other persons in war jobs and thereby relieve others for the fighting fronts.

18 KILLED AS TWO SUBS SINK SMALL U. S. SHIP

Vessel Goes Down in Minutes After Attack.

By The Associated Press

Survivors of a small American merchantman which "went down like a brick" about 150 miles off the east coast July 24 said almost simultaneous explosions as torpedoes struck both port and starboard sides indicated the ship was attack by two submarines.

Eighteen persons, including the captain and skipper of another vessel who was aboard as a passenger, were killed in the explosions or trapped below decks and drowned, the navy said yesterday in announcing the recent sinking, which brought to 402 The Associated Press unofficial tabulation of allied and neutral ship losses in the western Atlantic since Dec. 7.

Although the merchantman "went down like a brick in less than a minute," according to survivors, 14 others aboard were rescued after a navy patrol plane directed a fishing boat to where they were floundering in the sea.

The Escape of A Yankee Chetnik

American Woman Tells of Capture and Release by Gestapo.

Ruth Mitchell, sister of the late General Billy Mitchell, tells her own dramatic story of her capture and release by the Gestapo. This is the first full story of her experience since her return to the United States aboard the Swedish liner Drottningholm.

By RUTH MITCHELL
(As told to Wide World Features)

I WENT to Albania for the wedding of King Zog, in April, 1938. Writing guide books for the Albanian Government, I traveled extensively throughout Albania, and the Italians, thinking I was a spy, expelled me.

I went to Budva a little village, where the story spread that I was head of the British Intelligence in the Balkans, and I was arrested on July 15, 1940. When I arrived in Belgrade I was questioned many times. Feeling was becoming so pro-British generally that eventually I was released.

I was introduced to Duke Petchanatz, leader of the Chetniks, the guerrilla organization which is today fighting for Germans and Italians in the mountains and forests of Yugoslavia. Eventually I was sworn as a member of the Chetniks—the first and only foreign woman ever to be admitted to membership. I took the oath on a dagger and loaded revolver crossed, on the duke's office before a desk on which is the skull and crossbones of a Chetnik who died in the course of duty.

Burning of Belgrade

I was in Belgrade the morning the Germans came. I heard a German voice scream on the radio: "And as I speak, at this moment Belgrade is burning." The first bombs fell a few moments afterward. The slaughter was terrible. Belgrade had been declared an open city, and there was not a gun or a plane to defend it. They came over and dropped their bombs as they liked. Hundreds of women and children were killed in shelters. The total death-roll generally believed was 22,000, though some put the figures as high as 32,000.

My own house was damaged and my butler, who brought a cart in which to remove my furniture and valuable tapestries, had the horse killed under him by a bomb. I walked off, carrying what I could. I had a 40-kilometer walk wearing my uniform, then stood on the back of a bus, then joined a refugee train, riding a cattle-truck for 16 hours with Yugoslav flying men who were retreating to a rearward airbase. It took me ten days to get to Dubrovnik. There I destroyed my Chetnik uniform. It consisted of a brown peasant's costume, heavily embroidered in black, with crossed cartridge belts, high astrakhan cap with skull-and-crossbones badge and dagger.

I had just come out from a bath when I was arrested in an empty hotel, from which all the other guests had fled. I excused myself, to dress, and destroyed the papers showing my membership in the Chetniks.

In Gestapo Jail

I was taken to the Gestapo jail, and found it packed full of the rich, the aristocrats and the intellectual classes of Belgrade, the vast majority of whom were being held as hostages, to be shot if fighting continued. I was taken to a cellar with damp straw to sleep on. The walls were running damp. That night, 128 of the prisoners were shot. A radio played dance music to cover up the noise of the firing.

In the women's cell was a 16-year-old girl, Zora Sokitch, who was daily beaten to tell where her boy sweetheart, a Jew, had gone. Her back was beaten until it was raw and bleeding. When I was removed from that prison to another, I spoke to the officer in charge of my party about the terrible treatment she had received. He looked at his watch and said, "She was shot half an hour ago." He added, "Little kittens can scratch, too."

The Gestapo prison was between the Terrazia and the House of Parliament. We women, by holding each other up, could see through a crack in a window which had been boarded up, where they were taking out the men prisoners for execution. Someone was constantly on watch, and the women who couldn't see used to wait to hear whether their husbands or sons were among the party.

400 Shot

I was there from May 29, to Aug. 2. During that time I should think something like 400 people were shot.

With five Englishwomen, I was moved to Graz in Austria. From Graz I was taken to the Promenade Prison in Vienna where we slept on straw sacks. In Sarajevo, in the absence of any bedding, I had been given as a mattress by a German officer a pile of priceless Gobelin tapestries which had been looted from a Jewish house. I was then taken to Munich in a Black Maria in which every compartment for two contained five people. The walls were covered with scribbled messages of despair.

The Germans had not expected any further resistance after they had officially announced the conquest of Yugoslavia. Then the revolt started and 48 hours later German tanks rumbled past the prison on a punitive expedition. Their method on reaching a village as to arrest the priest, the school-teacher, all the leading citizens, male and female, and the older boys from the school. They were made to dig their own graves, and shot so that they fell into them. The village was burned to the ground and the German tanks rolled on.

Held in Asylum

From Munich, I was taken to Salzburg, then to Ulm, then to Leibenau, where there was a camp with about 350 British women in it. Formerly it was a lunatic asylum, and 500 lunatics were anaesthetised to make room for the new occupants. I arrived there on Sept. 16, and left on June 11 on my way out to America.

More than anything else, I bring back the story of the Serbs, whose code of honor is so old-fashioned that they don't even know they ought to surrender when they can't win. They don't negotiate. They just fight. They are the true crusaders of today.

OHIO TO ISSUE STICKERS IN LIEU OF 1943 TAGS

No Steel Available for Auto License Plates.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 30—Ohio motorists will receive a single windshield sticker in lieu of 1943 license plates, Cylon Wallace, state registrar of motor vehicles, announced today.

War requirements for steel made the change necessary, Wallace explained. He said stickers probably would be either red or yellow.

The change, however, will not affect the cost of licenses, the registrar added.

Stickers will be two by four inches and carry the serial number of the motorist's license. Car owners will receive a duplicate with additional information such as type and make of car, engine number and other information now carried on registration certificates.

Wallace said small plates of plastic probably would be issued to clip on license plates of motorcycles and trailers.

Sufficient steel will be available to manufacture plates for new cars and other vehicles, Wallace said.

Former Edison Teacher Takes Mansfield Post

Special to The Star

EDISON—Miss Mary Eyster, a former teacher in the Edison school who last year taught in the Jeromesville school, has resigned her position there to accept a position in the Mansfield City schools. Miss Eyster, who has been spending her vacation with her mother, Mrs. Margaret Eyster, began a summer course at O. S. U. in Columbus Monday.

Miss Marjorie Billet, a student nurse at White Cross hospital in Columbus, underwent an appendicitis operation Tuesday. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Billet of Bucyrus. They were Edison residents until a year ago.

Four, 4-H Club girls, Misses Dorothy Dalrymple, Waneta and Joan Cochran and Twila McClaren, spent a week at Camp Ohio near Utica.

Boy Scouts Donald Graham, Colby Vanatta, James Cox and Kenneth Baird spent last week at Camp Owens near Marion.

Miss Leota Bush who has been employed on a construction project south of Columbus left Wednesday by plane for Blytheville, Ark., to do secretarial work where a new camp is being constructed. Miss Bush is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Bush of Denmark.

Uncle Sam Now Faces New Woe in Scrap Campaign

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, July 29—Uncle Sam's problem of getting junked jaloppies out of automobile graveyards has reversed itself, and now he is seeking to get the car cemeteries filled up.

Last spring auto graveyards owners were told to get the needed scrap metal moving to steel mills or Uncle Sam would move it for them. The objective was a 100 per cent turn-over in inventory on hand May 1. In southern Ohio, Kentucky and southern West Virginia, the auto graveyard operators scrapped 28,734 old cars in a 60-day campaign ended June 30th. They had 27,576 in stock at the campaign's start.

The result, said Edgar J. Arnstine, district auto-graveyard section chief for the WPB's bureau of industrial conservation, was that "the very success of our 60-day campaign has endangered our supply of jalopp as needed to keep a steady flow of this important source of scrap metal to our steel mills."

"To be useful to the war effort, an auto graveyard must have a constant influx of jalopp es to be scrapped. The supply on hand now is dangerously low."

Arnstine appealed to the public to match "the fine job done by the district's auto graveyard operators, declaring:

"If you drive 30 machine guns of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Werley, 498 North Main street; Howard Neal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Neal, 753 Silver street; Bernice Nece, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Nece, 376 Elm street; James Gwilym, son of Mrs. Ruth Gwilym, 244 South Grand avenue, and Marilyn Johnston, daughter of Mrs. T. O. Johnston, R. R. 2, Marion.

Pre-registration of Bowling Green freshmen is the largest in university history and 14 per cent ahead of a year ago, according to Registrar John W. Bunn.

However, total enrollment this fall will be below the 1941 figure because many upperclass men have been drafted into the army.

In the last year the University has acquired a 120-acre airport and erected five new buildings—hospital, student union building and three sorority houses.

Five Marion students have been admitted into the class which will enter Bowling Green State University in September, the news bureau of the university reported today.

They are: Joseph Werley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Werley, 498 North Main street; Howard Neal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Neal, 753 Silver street; Bernice Nece, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. ... Thorndike shook his head and ... leaned back in the chair. "It's ... and me but—you've got nerve. ... I say that." His glance sharp- ... ed. "Do you know who it was?" ... Joyce looked at Delia and said:

... Hardacker, do you think?"

... "Possibly," Delia said. "He'd ... been to my place about three ... hours before."

... "All right," Thorndike said. ... on."

... "You two kids went down there ... Morton street alone?" he said ... finally, pulling out a handker- ... chief and wiping his palms. "At ... o'clock at night? That's the ... craziest thing I ever heard of."

... "We had to," Delia said.

... "We really did."

... "You stayed in the car," he ... said to Joyce, "and Dee went in ... alone. How long after that did ... Raeburn come out?"

... "I don't know," Joyce said. It ... might have been two minutes or ... more."

... "Quite."

... "Hmmm—that was luck, wasn't ... it? Recognizing him, I mean. ... From where you were packed, ... and being in the dark and all, you ... might well to—"

... "I didn't, at first," Joyce said. ... "But there was a lighted window ... next to the doorway and he ... turned that way. He walked right past it."

"And after that you had to face the police, eh? And this lad Fenner. Who is he?"

Joyce explained and when she had finished Delia spoke up.

"What about Ward? You had something to tell us."

"I have." Thorndike hauled himself out of the chair, looking more worried than ever. He wants to go away—he is going away, I guess."

"Going away?" Delia jumped to her feet, her face paling. "Where?"

"He doesn't know. Or if he does, he won't tell. Just away."

"But he can't do that."

"That's what I told him. He telephoned to tell me he was resigning. I went to his place. I asked him if the police had given him a clean bill of health and he said they hadn't. I told him it was a mistake to run and that he shouldn't leave town until Raeburn had been found and this mess cleaned up. 'They'll only bring you back,' I said, but I couldn't convince him." He pulled at his nose, said: "I thought maybe you'd talk to him."

"Oh, I will." Delia's voice trembled and she went over to the closet and began to put on her things.

Joyce helped her, and opened the door.

"Make him listen," she said.

"I'd almost rather tell the police," Thorndike said, "than let him run away. They'd stop him."

"There'll be some way, Joyce said, and squeezed Delia's arm. "You can do it."

Idea For Joyce

Joyce sat on the divan for a long time after Delia and Thorndike left. It was the first time she had actually been alone for more than twelve hours, and as she reviewed the events of the past two days, certain theories began to take shape in her mind. Things were clarifying themselves. This morning, for instance. The suppositions that Lieutenant Bacon had advanced had substantiated her tentative ideas. And Bacon had also stated one fact that changed her viewpoint entirely.

Kent had helped, too, with his theory about Hestor and the shooting of Perry Clarke. Without these details which had been offered by those more experienced than herself, she would be no nearer the solution than before; with them her problem resolved itself to one of elimination.

Once accepted, these few definite facts began to rearrange themselves in her mind and she tried to build a thought-chain that was solid and conclusive. In the end she became convinced that her answer lay in one of two directions.

Following one of these, she came shortly to a dead end. She tried the other, examining its many twists until, suddenly something clicked in her brain, and she sat upright on the divan. "It couldn't be," she said, half aloud.

She rose and went to the desk. From the lower drawer she took the four photographs Eddy Lacey had made, and which had been rolled up and fastened with an elastic.

She unrolled them, studying them briefly, more conscious of the turmoil in her mind than of the words reproduced on the glossy sheets. After a while she rolled them up again and left them on the desk. She still could not be sure, for there were so many things she did not know, and yet—she had to try, and quickly.

She picked up the telephone and gave the number of Ward Allen's apartment. Presently he answered.

"Ward," she said, "this is Joyce. Delia there?"

"Delia? No."

"She's on her way. Dean is bringing her."

"Oh." His voice was short, weary-sounding. "Well, she does not have to bother—I've made up my mind. I'm not running away, it's just that—"

"Listen, Ward," Joyce cut in. "I dont care about that. I just called up to tell you that Delia's on her way there and I want you to keep her there until I come. I must see you both. . . . Will you do that for me? I shouldn't be more than a half an hour."

"I'll tell her," Ward Allen said. "I'll still be here in any case, but I'll tell her."

Joyce hung up. Then, as she put the instrument down, she thought of Kent, and wondered whether she was doing the right thing.

Indians Defeat Red Sox, 7-6, on Roy Weatherly's 11th-Inning Single Win Today Over Boston Will Give Tribe Second-Place Tie.

By The Associated Press

Cleveland's Redskins won another chance to climb into a virtual tie for second place with the Boston Red Sox today.

By beating the Bosox, 7 to 6, in 11 innings yesterday, the Tribe cut Boston's grip on the runner-up spot to one game and a few percentage points.

For the job of squaring the series at two games each, the Indians called on Mel Harder. The visitors named Oscar Judd.

Roy Weatherly broke up yesterday's game with a single to the right field wall with two out and the bases loaded. It climaxed a game in which 17 Indians and 15 Bosox played, 21 bases on balls were granted, and in which Boston outhit Cleveland 10 to 9.

Chubby Dean started for Cleveland, and Boston scored a pair of runs off him in the third and another brace in the sixth. Meanwhile the Redskins tallied four off starter Ken Chase in the third, and broke into a 5-4 lead by plating another marker in the sixth. Boston tied it up in the next inning when Vernon Kennedy came in to hurl for Cleveland and, then forged ahead 6-5, in the eighth before Tom Ferrick could rescue Kennedy and retire the side.

The Tribe tied the score for the third time in its half of the same inning by "walking" off Mace Brown, who had replaced Chase in the seventh.

Les Fleming walked, Ray Mack sacrificed and Gene Desautels walked, so Brown retired and Mike Ryba assumed the mound chores. Oris Hockett got the only hit of the inning, driving home Fleming with the tying marker.

Red Embree came in to pitch for the Tribe, and held Boston to one hit in three innings.

Yank Terry, who went to the mound for Boston in the ninth, was charged with the defeat.

The Chicago White Sox have been going nowhere in the American league ever since the season started, but they have attained one distinction denied every other club in the circuit. They are the only team to sweep a doubleheader from the world champion New York Yankees and they have accomplished the feat not once, but twice.

When the Sox first turned the trick in New York on June 28, the Yanks were in a slump and the Sox didn't get much credit.

But they caught the champions last night at the crest of a winning streak that included four straight victories and 15 of their last 16 games and proceeded to whip the Yankees at the kind of ball for which New York is noted—slugging.

The first game was played at twilight and the Yanks gave Atley Donald a 5-1 lead with five runs in the third inning, two of them on Joe DiMaggio's 16th homer. Then the Sox slugged back to win 6-5 in 11 innings.

The second game, played under the lights, saw the Sox pick up an early 5-2 lead, the Yanks tied the score in the sixth, and then Chicago came back with two runs in its half of the same frame to win 7-5.

Nats Edge Brownies

At St. Louis the Washington Senators squeezed past the Browns again 11-10 with four runs in the ninth inning.

The Detroit Tigers walloped the Philadelphia Athletics 12-7.

In the National league the Brooklyn Dodgers enlarged their lead to eight games by defeating the St. Louis Cardinals 4-3 in a twilight tussle that was halted in the last of the seventh by wartime dimout regulations in the New York area. Enos Slaughter drove in all the St. Louis runs with a homer in the first and a double in the seventh.

The two doubleheaders which completed the senior circuit card were halved. The Chicago Cubs welcomed Van Lingle Mungo back into the majors a bit rudely, beating the New York Giants 4-2 even though held to seven hits in the first game. The Giants took the second game, 3-1.

The Pittsburgh Pirates took their first game at Boston, 3-0, but the Braves retaliated with a 6-5 decision in the nightcap.

To Try Comeback

With a rookie outfielder pitching and a veteran shortstop catching, the Philadelphia Phils close out their series with the Cincinnati Reds tonight.

Earl Naylor, who knocked in 111 runs for the Memphis Chicks in the Southern association last year and poled the home park's longest homer on record, is the converted outfielder who will be trying for his first victory on the mound. He's lost five.

Bobby Bragan, Phils' shortstop for three years and displaced this season by Danny Murtaugh, is slated to begin a try at backstopping as a means of keeping out of the minors.

Bucky Walters can match Ray Starr's leading record among Redleg hurlers tonight by winning his 13th against seven setbacks.

Last night's game was cancelled because of weather.

Ohio State Grid Ticket Sale Falls Off 20%

COLUMBUS, O., July 30—Sale of season tickets to Ohio State university's home football games is 20 per cent below last year and nine per cent less than in July, 1940, Henry D. Taylor, ticket director, announced today.

Despite tire rationing, out-of-town purchases have exceeded sales to Columbus fans, usually the team's heaviest supporters. Aug. 15 is the final sale date for season books.

HAWKS SCORE 11-4 WIN OVER R. R. A. C. AT LINCOLN PARK

Star Pitcher Suffers Minor Hand Injury, Out for Two Weeks.

The Marion R. R. A. C. baseball team lost an 11-4 decision to the Marion Hawks in a practice game at Lincoln park last night. Joe Roseberry and Dunkin allowed the R. R. A. C. club only seven hits, while their mates blasted nine hits off Bob Simms.

Joe Roseberry was spiked in a close play at third base in the sixth inning. Three stitches were required to close the deep hand wound. He will probably be inactive for at least two weeks, Manager Ted Anderson said.

The Hawks are slated to play a benefit game at Lincoln park Friday night at 7 with the Galion Jaycees. Proceeds from the game will be used to pay hospital and medical fees of Fritz Walters, injured in a recent Marion-Galion tilt. The dimunitive shortstop suffered slight head injuries.

Either John Edington or Bob Howison will be Manager Anderson's starting mound choice.

Following is the probable nominations for the other posts: Gail Stout cf, Joe Paulus 3b, Merle Hilton rf, Darrel Roseberry 2b, Bob Dilleon c, Fritz Walters ss, Owen Creasap 1b and Anderson lf.

Galion's line-up will include: Ernst 3b, Shaffer lf, Ertley rf, Burgraft c, Noblet ss, Goldsmith 1b and Garverick 2b.

Snatches of Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON Jr.
Wide World Sports Columnist

NEW YORK, July 30—American soldiers are taking their sports along wherever they go, thereby adding greatly to the confusion of world affairs. . . Recently we've seen a report from Australia on an American football game played there and from Belfast on a clash between soldier baseball teams . . . . The Aussie scribe couldn't quite figure out why it was called "football" when there was so little kicking and the Irishman concluded: "One thing Belfast 'fans' will have to remember in the future if they want to appear knowledgeable. Never applaud or get excited about an ordinary or fairly high 'fly ball.'"

Today's Guest Star—Pete Norton Tampa, Fla., Tribune: "It sounds like the truth. . . 81,810 citizens of New Jersey and Pennsylvania shelled out $2,800,000 in bets at the new Camden track last week. . . And very likely have saved gasoline tires and wear and tear on his nervous system."

The Great Mouthpiece—Jimmy Johnston's latest communique to the press is all about Adam Spencer, a young Negro heavyweight whom Jimmy claims Bob Pastor discovered working as a sparring partner in Stillman's gym. Jimmy makes Adam sound very good, but privately he adds: "You can get more money with a bum heavyweight than with a champion in any other class."

Postponed Stake Races Feature Grand Circuit

By The Associated Press

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Me., July 30—The $3,000 Richfield stake for three-year-old trotters and National stakes for baby trotters and pacers top the Grand Circuit program today.

All three stake races were postponed when weather drove horses and fans from the Kite strip after four heats yesterday. The Richfield, a last rehearsal for the $40,000 Hambletonian, provides another test for Colby Hanover and Cannon Ball, rated one-two in early books on the trotting derby at Goshen, Aug. 12.

HORSE OLYMPICS NEWEST PLAN FOR ARMY-NAVY BENEFIT

Columbus Day Program May Shoot for Goal of $200,000 for Relief.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK—Although there still are enough kinks in the way to cook a bowlful of prunes, plans are under way to bring all the big shots together on Columbus Day at Belmont Park for a horse olympics that would include just about everything but the hop, skip and jump.

The idea, the Associated Press learned, was first conceived by a newspaperman and is being pushed along by Herbert Bayard Swope and New York Racing associations as an all-out war relief program. Some officials believe it might put $200,000 or more into the bank for army and navy relief and the USO.

Up to now the whole thing is hardly out of the incubator stage. The tentative line-up is for a series of events for the top-flight horses in each age and sex division of the turf, to decide just who are the bosses.

Thus, John Marsch's unbeaten Occupation and five or six other top two-year old colts would get together to fight it out for their honors; the juvenile fillies would do the same. Shut Out, Valdina Orphan, Alsab (if he's ready) and any other claimants would iron out the three-year-old colt situation—if it still needs ironing out after Shut Out put the crusher on in the Classic Saturday.

Vagrancy is far and away the glamor gal of the three-year-old fillies, but the plan would also send her out to prove it against as many other good ones as might be rounded up. Whirlaway and Market Wise would settle the handicap row; some of the older mares would get together to straighten out their squabble, and finally the top half-dozen steeplechasers would be sent out to decide who's head man over the hedges.

Chief difficulties in the way are (1) that the horses would run only for cups, instead of cash, in order to swell the war relief pot, and (2) that Columbus day is two days after Belmont's fall meeting is over.

The date, October 12, is in the books as the opening day of Aqueduct's meeting, and the officials of that track already have been invited into the huddle. One source said they have expressed willingness to give up the holiday at their plant if the rest of the card can be worked out.

Comeback Match Tops Armory Mat Card.

For the second time in recent weeks, Marion wrestling fans have played a major role in arranging the weekly pad attraction.

In response to repeated requests from the fans for a match between cranium-cracking Rufus Jones of New York City and Joe Ferona of Boston, Mass., Matchmaker Les Fishbaugh recently signed the ace stalwarts for a two-hour main-go bout on tonight's Armory mat card.

Both men have made frequent appearances here in recent years. They'll weigh in for tonight's card at about 190 pounds each. Likewise, they'll be about equally matched in roughneck play and general bad acting within the ring.

Although the main attraction lines up as a four-star feature, the one-hour semi-final event will be equally as important in that Flash Clifford will be making his first appearance here in several months. The former animal trainer with the famed Clyde Beatty shows layed off for several months because he thought he was going "stale."

He made his first appearance here early last winter and became an over-night favorite with the local customers. However, early last spring his performance became less spectacular.

Tonight's appearance will be his first local match since he started the comeback. In recent fights in Toledo his work has been exceptionally good, Promoter Fishbaugh said recently.

Leo Jensen and Sailor Olsen will tangle in the 30-minute preliminary event slated to start at 8:30.

Axis Snips at Allied Supply Lines

Wide World Features

The Japanese member of the Axis already has cut three of the major supply routes carrying American-made material to the fronts of Europe and Asia.

The European members of the Axis now are doing their best to cut the three principal supply lines to the Russian-Middle East front while Japan hacks away at the airplane substitute for the Burma Road, from India to Chungking. Since the United States has become the arsenal of the anti-Axis nations, the battles for the supply lines may tell the story of World War II.

City Kids Are Slickers Down on the Farm

Wide World Feature

NEW YORK—Farmers always look twice and suspiciously both times at city-bred people who want to get out into the great outdoors via farm work.

When the program to alleviate the hired-hand shortage by emigrating city youngsters during their summer school vacation was first announced, many farmers stayed carefully away from sectional meetings to receive applications.

But when the city kids began to turn neat furrows on their neighbors' farms, they became interested. And now the Farm Cadet Program is said to be working out successfully, easing the shortage of farmhands that threatened the nation's wartime food supply.

The New York City board of education's farm cadet program already has sent 700 youngsters out to help farmers harvest crops for victory. One New Yorker is getting his suntan in the cornfields of Missouri, Harrison C. Thomas, assistant to the school superintendent, reports.

Others Widely Scattered

Others are bringing in the sheaves in South Carolina, Florida and Maine while the bulk of the cadets are working in Connecticut, New Jersey, Eastern Pennsylvania and New York.

Judging from letters to their instructors, the boys are enjoying farm work and thriving on the fresh air. One youngster writes, "The house is like a mansion and the farm is very well equipped. The work is pleasant and 15 hours a day is as nothing."

Another writes, "Thanks to your farm course, I'm not such a city slicker. Milking isn't what I thought it was. Farming isn't easy, not out in the field, but I'd still rather farm than work in the city this summer."

"The farmer and the family are very nice, well-mannered and intelligent people," one surprised youth writes. "I learned to milk at the second milking which I think is pretty good."

A busy boy is the one on a Connecticut farm who "learned to operate a hay rake and hay tedder. Have been working in the garden pulling weeds, picking strawberries, currants and some vegetables. I am learning to milk cows. I also tried my hand at docking lambs."

Likes Farm Folk

Another cadet finds his farm "family easy to get along with" and the "food very edible." He whitewashed the barn before taking time out to write home.

Individual contracts between the farmers and the boys range from $20 a month and keep to the $75 one experienced farm hand is getting. The farmers pay the outbound train fare and if the cadet can stand the job for the full period to Sept. 1 and in some cases to Oct. 1, he also gets his transportation home. The pay scale is subject to upward revision as rapidly as the cadet gains experience and can convince the farmer he's worth it.

Volunteer Land Corps, a permanent, private organization headed by Dorothy Thompson, is experimenting with another back-to-the-farm movement. It has furnished about 600 boys and girls so far this summer to hard pressed Vermont and New Hampshire farmers.

From eastern colleges and schools, the Land Corps enrolls eager youngsters at $21 a month, plus keep and combination health and compensation insurance, to help with the crops and learn simultaneously the problems and importance of agriculture.

Jurisdictional Strike Is Ended in War Plant

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., July 30 — The AFL building trades council called back to their jobs today 250 workers at the Moraine City plant of General Motors Frigidaire division.

The men left the plant, which is busy with war production, 12 days ago because of a dispute between the council and the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (CIO) over which was entitled to handle certain construction work.

Two Families Honored at Green Camp Event

Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Casto and family and Rev. and Mrs. T. A. Ballinger and family were honor guests at a joint farewell and welcome party held on the lawn of the Green Camp Methodist church Tuesday night. Mr. Casto, who has been a teacher of agriculture in the Green Camp High school for the last five years has accepted a position as teacher near Defiance. Rev. Ballinger is pastor of the church appointed last month.

A program held in the church included a welcome by Mrs. Effie Williams, response by Rev. Ballinger, farewell by W. B. Long, Sunday school superintendent, response by Mr. Casto, talk by Rev. Charles W. Harmon, pastor of the Green Camp Baptist church, and presentation of a gift to Mr. Casto by Mrs. Ray Annette, representing the B. F. O. M. class of which he was teacher. Refreshments were served on the lawn after the program. Mrs. John Ruth was in charge of the program.

Sudan Grass Provides Good Fall Pasture

Sudan grass is widely adapted to most classes of soils and weather conditions and is one of the best non-legume summer pastures available says Ross Fleetwood of the University of Missouri. Thus it fills a very important place as a catch crop summer pasture.

Being an annual crop, it must be seeded each year, which limits its use somewhat. The land for seeding should be prepared the same as for corn or soybeans and the crop should be planted in late May or early June. Since it is a non-legume and draws rather heavily upon the soil, it should be grown in a rotation with soil-building legume crops.

Sudan grass should not be pastured until it is at least 4 to 5 inches high. Permitting growth during late June and early July will also do much to insure pasture during late July, August and September when the need is probably the greatest.

Sudan grass belongs to the sorghum family and prussic acid is formed at times by the plant. The amount is so small, however, that pure Sudan seldom, if ever, causes poisoning.

Two Escaped Prisoners Reenter Penitentiary

The pair was arrested June 10 at Canton on grand larceny charges involving the theft of money from a Canton woman. Markle was convicted and reentered prison under a new one-to-seven-year sentence. Shortino was returned to prison as a fugitive to serve a year on his former sentence before possible prosecution at Canton.

WHEAT FLUCTUATES, THEN TURNS LOWER

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 30—After fluctuating erratically above and below previous closing levels most of the session, wheat prices turned definitely lower just before the close, losses of a cent or more carrying quotations back to around lows for the season.

Selling was blamed on dealers placing hedges against limited amounts of wheat offered to the commercial trade and on lagging flour demand. Sporadic buying came from previous short sellers.

War news continued to unsettle the market and wheat weakened later with corn, which was depressed, traders said, by expectations that the government price for feed wheat will be lowered in order to push this grain into livestock consumption.

BURLAP SHORTAGE

WASHINGTON — Farmers will have to depend largely on bags made of substitutes for burlap on odd-size bags, and on re-use of old bags for handling their crops this year, the U. S. department of agriculture this week advised farmers. The department gave this summary of the agricultural bag situation:

An over-all view of the agricultural bag situation indicates that due to the war emergency and inadequate shipping space limiting importations, there will be no more heavy weight burlap for agricultural bags this year.

Consequently, it is essential for farmers to plan for greater use of cotton bags (Osnaburg or sheetings) or paper bags. In many cases it will be necessary that farmers use unusual or odd-shaped bags. In order to utilize the fullest extent of existing loom facilities, textile mills are finding it necessary to weave fabrics of certain widths and construction not generally used by [illegible] bag manufacturers.

Ration for Pullets Is Important Matter

"The fact that growing pullets need less detailed care than baby chicks does not mean that they should be neglected during the summer" says Scott Hinners, Purdue university extension poultryman.

"A well-balanced pullet-developing ration will conserve feeds and make more profits," he declared. "A good pullet-developing ration does not need to be complicated in order to get results. A mash mixture made up of 400 pounds of ground oats, 400 pounds ground wheat, 150 pounds of meat and bone scraps, and 50 pounds alfalfa leaf meal will give satisfactory results when fed to growing birds on range with an abundance of fresh green feed available and hopper-fed grain available at all times.

"At least half of the grain should be yellow corn. However, all of the grain may be yellow corn if so desired. This ration gives farmers an opportunity to utilize as much as possible of their own farm-grown grain in order to reduce feed costs."

QUININE SUBSTITUTE

ATLANTA — (Wide World) — Out of possum poke in Possum Lane, Ga., comes word that scientists might profitably pay more attention to the possibilities of Georgia bark as a substitute for quinine in the treatment of malaria.

Not since the war between the states has much attention been paid to the bark, but a medical report published in 1863, when the Union blockade had all but throttled the import of medicines into the south, tells of a Dr. Law who used the bark to cure six or seven cases of "intermittent" fever.

There are other medical reports telling of the widespread use of the bark by Confederate physicians to treat the chills and fevers of malaria after quinine became unobtainable.

STOCKS UP ON SMALL SCALE

But Leaders Still Show Lack of Encouraging Recovery Power.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 30—Stocks did a bit better on a selective basis today although many market leaders still displayed a distinct lack of recovery power.

Wall Street was unable to shake off the chill of sharply falling corporate profits and the resultant threat to dividends but the thought arose that current quotations of numerous issues indicated considerable discounting had been done. Stiffening of Russian defenses in the Caucasus was helpful to sentiment.

U. S. Steel and Bethlehem exhibited resistance, along with U. S. Rubber and General Electric. Occasional laggards included Chrysler, Goodrich, Woolworth, and J. C. Penney.

Notice was taken of the National City Bank of New York compilation revealing that the majority of 180 prominent manufacturing organizations in the first half of 1942 suffered a substantial drop in net income after taxes when compared with the same months last year. For these companies as a whole net for the first quarter was off 32 per cent from 1941 while in the second quarter the year-to-year recession was 42 per cent.

officially which would indicate that his status was different, since he like at least six of the others is a German citizen, and like the others trained in the Berlin sabotage school and came to America by submarine. Dasch, as a matter of fact, was a leader of one of the two groups of four.

Chief Question

The prime question before the court — raised by petitions for habeas corpus to deliver the prisoners from a military commission before which President Roosevelt placed them—was whether men such as these were entitled to the protection of civil courts as a matter of right.

Certainly not, contended Attorney General Biddle. War "wipes out the rights of the alien," he asserted, and any "relief he may be entitled to in a court depends on the grace of the sovereign."

But yes, the men do have rights, argued Col. Kenneth C. Royall, one of several army officers assigned to the defense. He insisted that even if the prisoners be soldiers of the reich they could claim the shelter of the bill of rights while in this country.

A regiment of German soldiers caught landing on these shores would not have those rights, Royall conceded in response to questions from the bench which frequently interspersed the six hours of argument heard yesterday as the case opened. But the soldiers, he explained, would have other rights as prisoners of war—rights these defendants cannot claim.

Explore All Claims

The questions from the court made it clear that it sought to explore every possible claim the prisoners might have to rights both military and civil. Seven judges are hearing the case. Justice Douglas did not arrive from Oregon in time for the opening session and Justice Murphy disqualified himself because of his present military status.

Chief Justic Stone, interrupting Biddle's argument, remarked that "we recognize the courts are not open to enemy alien plaintiffs but we recognize that the courts are open to defendants to defend themselves."

Justice Jackson asked several questions as to the application of the Hague conventions respecting the laws of war, to which both the United States and Germany are signatories.

At the same time Jackson wondered audibly, since anyone who saw the men landing "could have shot them and it wouldn't have been murder," at what point did their status change so that they acquired rights.

"After they had entered the community of ordinary human beings in this country," Royall answered.

Raise Other Points

The defense staff raised other points beside the issue of whether the prisoners could claim civil rights—that the President's order establishing the military commission was invalid and that the commission's conduct of the case was improper, among others.

But the question of the prisoners' rights remained paramount since, if the supreme court found they had none, it would not need to pass upon the other questions.

In case the court went on to these other questions, Biddle argued that the constitution gave the President sweeping powers as the nation's commander-in-chief.

And beyond these powers, Biddle cited the constitutional provision that "the congress shall have power x x x to make rules concerning captures on land and water;" and an act of 1798 by which he implied that this power had been delegated to the President.

This law, dealing with the status of "all natives, citizens, denizens or subjects" of a hostile power who are in the United States in time of war, says that "the President is authorized x x x to direct the conduct to be observed, on the part of the United States, toward the aliens x x x."

Calls Board Invalid

Royall contended that the establishment of the military commission trying the men was invalid on the ground that it violated the "articles of war," a congressional enactment. One of these articles provides that the judge advocate general of the army shall review the sentence of a court martial or military commission, whereas the President appointed the judge advocate general to the prosecution and ordered the commission to report direct to the White House. And there were other technical grounds.

Royall held that the proceedings violated the military rights of the prisoners but Biddle contended that the articles of war were prescribed not for their cases but for the trial of American soldiers.

The prisoners were not in court.

FARMERS COOPERATE

By The Associated Press

OLDHAM, S. D.—A "keep 'em moving co-op" has been worked out by farmers in a tri-county area here to eliminate hundreds of half-load trips to market. The group pooled equipment and members take turns hauling. Each contributed 50 cents to cover incidental expenses for the season. The plan saves tires, wear and tear on trucks. It has been endorsed by the department of agriculture.

Ice Cream Boon To Dairies

"Ice cream serves a very important place in the economic stability of the whole dairy industry," states Milton Hult, president of the National Dairy Council. Because of its refreshing characteristics, its greatest appeal to the human appetite is in the summer months. During the months of May through August when the production of milk is highest, the ice cream industry utilizes a substantial portion of the excess production.

Some idea of the magnitude of this industry is gained from the fact that the product of more than one million cows annually goes into the manufacture of ice cream. About five and a half billion pounds of milk were needed to make the 270 million gallons of ice cream consumed in the United States last year. If placed in 5,000-gallon capacity tank cars, the going into ice cream manufacture in the United States last year would completely fill a train reaching the 772 miles from Washington, D. C., to Chicago and leave enough milk over to fill a row of 10-gallon cans set side by side reaching from Chicago on to Los Angeles. Even after that, there would still be nearly a quarter of a million gallons of milk left over.

Ice cream is rapidly coming to be recognized for its protective qualities, its food value and its economy. Within the last eight years, consumption has risen from about four and one-half quarts per person to more than ten and one-half quarts last year.

"At the time the lend-lease program was inaugurated," states Claude R. Wickard, secretary of agriculture, "it appeared unlikely that we would be able to obtain the needed amounts of dairy products without seriously curtailing the supplies available for domestic consumption. However, the response of producers and processors of milk to the department's request for increased production has indeed been remarkable. This response is particularly gratifying since the increased production of dairy products now makes it possible not only to maintain domestic consumption of dairy products, but to increase it."

Production Grows

"The magnitude of the milk industry's accomplishments is now shown by the fact that production has increased from an average of approximately 104 billion pounds of milk per year during the years 1935-39 to approximately 120 billions, estimated as the production for this year.

SHEEP PARASITES TAKE HEAVY TOLL

Care Should Be Taken To Keep Flocks Free.

WOOSTER — Sheep flocks which suffered damage from internal parasites last year are most likely to suffer damage again this year, warns D. S. Bell of the Ohio Experiment Station's animal industry department, who says that internal parasites are the greatest menace to the sheep flock.

Ewe flocks may appear in good thrift after careful winter feeding, and this appearance often leads the grower to become optimistic over the prospects of a good lamb crop at marketing time. It must be remembered, however, that if the flock was infected last season, it is infected now. Older sheep can carry a light to moderately heavy burden of parasites without showing marked symptoms of infection.

However, this old flock is the greatest source of infection for lambs. Permanent pastures which were grazed by infected sheep last season also harbor infective larvae and are infective this season. Likewise, stable residue which accumulates during the winter in the pens of infected sheep is a source of infection.

Prevention of disease is far more desirable, and, in the case of internal parasites, more effective than treatment and cure.

Three procedures are in order now to prevent parasitic damage:

Treat the ewe flock with a vermifuge of high efficiency to reduce existing infection. Phenothiazine, tetra-chlorethylene, or a combination drench is, in the order given, the most effective vermifuge.

Avoid old pastures grazed by sheep last season.

Do not put the manure from the sheep stable on a field to be used for sheep pasture.

The all-out effort for greatest agricultural efficiency includes sheep. Every lamb put to market early may yield, in addition to valuable food, a shirt-fleeced pelt which contributes to an aviator's suit, and these suits are a necessity in air warfare.

Farms May Grow Explosive Product

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Wide World Science Editor

NORMAN, Okla. — Saltpeter, the potassium nitrate of explosives, may be grown on farms under a proposition of Prof. A. C. Shead, University of Oklahoma.

Fields of swaying grain and of tall corn will be the source, the stalks of these plants being fed by sewage, so that they become chock full of the explosive.

Prof. Shead gets his evidence of this possibility from studying the records of cattle poisoning in the midwest and in the Rocky Mountain states in the last 45 years. In many cases the poison was saltpeter, which had concentrated in the plant stalks.

He cites a Kansas Agricultural Experiment Station bulletin of 1895 where fodder was from 18 to 23 per cent saltpeter. The source in that case was fields too heavily manured. Sewage, he suggests, could be used as an irrigant to spread over field near cities to produce saltpeter in plants.

In the Kansas report some of the corn stalks contained so much saltpeter that a match ignited a dry stalk.

More recently in Wyoming, stock poisoning has been traced to oats containing 5 to 15 per cent of its volume in the form of saltpeter. The bulletin traces the saltpeter to the soil of the afflicted areas. Prof. Shead suggests that the real source may be lightning which fixes the potassium nitrate from the air deposits in the soil.

YOUR HEALTH

Nervousness

WE ALL know the nervous person, the neurotic, the hypochondriac, the one who is always complaining, yet never really sick. They are tired, or they have poor digestion, or they are bilious, or they are eternally worrying about something that never happens, or mostly they are worrying about some part of their body.

They comprise a large part of any group of patients that the general practioner sees, a large part of the patients in a clinic. And they are prone to go from doctor to doctor and they get all kinds of advice, much of which is contradictory and mixes them up and makes them worse or starts them out on a new tangent.

Do any of these patients ever get cured? Or even improved? Two New York doctors, Dr. Constance Friess and Dr. Marjory Nelson, started out to find out about this and interviewed a number of these patients five years after they began treatment in the special clinic for them in the New York Hospital Outpatient Department.

Surgery Seldom Helpful

One thing that is notable about these patients is that they are particularly susceptible to the drama of surgery. They really like to have surgical operations performed on them. It was found that in the group of psycho-neurotics compared to a group of control patients about 31 per cent of the neurotics had had a surgical operation while 11 per cent of the controls had undergone surgery. Very little of the surgery on the neurotics did any good; the old complaints returned after the surgical operation and often two or three others grew where only one had been before.

In examining these patients five years after treatment began, it was found that in about 14 per cent the original diagnosis was incorrect and that a real organic disease was present. Considering how many doctors believe that in these patients organic disease is present but missed by careless examination, and considering how universally the patients say, "I really am sick. I have something the matter with me but you can't find it, that's all," this is a surprising low figure. Eighty-six per cent went on for five years but nobody ever found anything really the matter with them.

Incidentally, to show the tendency these patients have to go to doctors, 81 per cent went to five clinics and 18 per cent went to from five to 20 clinics.

At the end of five years, 40 percent of the patients showed no improvement; 22 percent were improved; 4 percent were cured. Some were worse and some had been incorrectly diagnosed.

One conclusion that stands out from this study is that such a patient should have but one physician or go to only one clinic. The tendency to shop around for medical care is not only wasteful, but is really detrimental to the patient's best interests. The one physician selected should go with the patient in consultation whenever consultation with another doctor is deemed advisable. These people particularly need to be guided from one control.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

"I'M SURE he won't think you have broken your promise," I reassured Mary. "He knows that I know of your trips to that restaurant with Stephen and Olina. The secret he's guarding from me is what information he wishes you to get from Stephen. He no doubt will tell me that in good time, but you know Fatima!"

"Do I ever!" Mary ejaculated. "No slam or quirk ever had anything on Grandpa Spencer. They open up when put over hot water, but I don't think a barbecue would have any effect on him. I'm mighty glad I haven't put my foot too far into the trough. But please, darling, if you love me, make your interview snappy. I shall be on pins and needles until I know what his verdict is."

"Even if he approves, I am not sure I can bring myself to go." I warned her, and the image of her swiftly crestfallen face stayed vividly before me while I talked to my father.

Tells Spencer

"Mary is in the other suite," I told him, "and she brings me a curious tale which I think you ought to know."

His eyebrows drew together into frowning disapproval.

"Does it concern the mission she is performing for me?" he asked.

"No, indeed," I said, then repeated Mary's tale of the queer old man at the restaurant, and her request that I go down with herself, Olina and Redfield, and inspect the mysterious stranger.

My father listened quietly, intensely interested. When I finished, he put the very question which had lurked in the back of my own mind.

"Has Olina connected the appearance of this old man with that queer fan letter she received?"

"Mary didn't say so," I replied, "and I am sure she wouldn't miss a point like that. Did the writer of that letter ever insert the newspaper personal he said he would?"

To my surprise, my father took this leading question without any show of annoyance.

"Not to my knowledge," he said. "I never have seen it." Then he came across to me, and put his hand on my shoulder.

"I know how you feel about leaving the hotel at night, because of the children, Margaret," he said. "Therefore, I am not asking you to go with Mary tonight."

"But you would like me to go?" I asked.

"I won't put it that strongly," he said. "But I think it might be a good thing if you did get a look at this old man, seeing him from a more mature viewpoint than that of the two girls. Redfield's reaction doesn't count one way or the other."

"May I let you know my decision in ten minutes?" I asked.

"Of course," he said.

Then I went back into the other suite, where Mary was describing figure eights in a twisting march around the room.

Tells Mary She'll Go

"I'm going to compromise with my conscience and with you," I said. "I'm going to telephone the farm, and if everything is all right there, I will go with you and Olina tonight."

"Praise be to Allah and all his prophets," she intoned, as I walked to the telephone. But before I could take down the receiver, she made a slight but imperative gesture.

"Just a sec," she said. "Is it permitted that the humblest of your servants approach you with a suggestion?"

The Stars Say—

For Friday, July 31

A SURPRISING, almost bewildering, state of affairs, is read from a long chain of astral figures. New, sudden, almost revolutionary conditions may arise, promising to catapult the ambitious, ardent, audacious, original and progressive into high planes of prestige, popularity and good fortune, affecting the personal, business and public life. All the energies, forces and faculties may be keyed to concert pitch in the performance of some unusual and productive task of value and benefit to self and the community.

Those whose birthday it is may stand at the door of a year of remarkable opportunities for progress, adventure and noteworthy achievement. Mental, nervous, creative and technical stimuli should be high-pressured for this grand stroke of genius.

A child born on this day should be richly endowed with creative ability. It may rise to extraordinary achievements, if not carried away by subtle weaknesses.

GEE, MR. OLIVER, BUT IT'S GRAND! YESTERDAY ALL THE GROUND WAS EMPTY AN' NOW IT'S ALL COVERED WITH LOVELY LITTLE CANVAS HOUSES FOR OUR SOLDIERS TO LIVE IN---
--IT'S JUST LIKE MAGIC--THE SOLDIERS PUT UP A HOUSE AS EASY AS MOST FOLKS PUT UP AN UMBRELLA--IF I WAS A MAN, I'D WANNA BE A SOLDIER
I UNDERSTAND JUST HOW YOU FEEL, ANNIE--IF I WERE THIRTY YEARS YOUNGER, I--BUT IT'S NO USE DREAMING ABOUT WHAT WE WOULD LIKE TO DO--
ALL WE CAN DO IS HONOR AND ADM THE MEN WHO ARE FIGHTING FOR AND DO EVERYTHING IN OUR POW TO HELP THEM TO WIN A GLORIOU VICTORY--
